

Hijack-Kidnap Plot to Free Angela Foiled

Prisoner Trade Planned

MINNEAPOLIS. Minn. —A bold plan to kidnap Minnesota Gov. Harold LeVander, hijack an airplane and use hostages to free Angela Davis and other prisoners was broken up by police and FBI agents Friday, authorities reported.

Officers went to a south-east Minneapolis apartment at 3:50 a.m. and captured Ronald L. Reed, 20, a fugitive from Omaha wanted on charges of attempted bank robbery. They said they found handwritten notes on him and in the apartment relating to the plots.

Reed, for whom no permanent address was listed, did not resist. A sawed-off shotgun and a loaded .38 caliber revolver were found in the apartment, police said.

AT LEAST two other persons were at the apartment but they were not arrested, authorities said. The search was carried out with their permission.

A spokesman for the FBI at Minneapolis said, "We are filing a federal complaint against Reed charging him with conspiracy to plan a hijacking of an aircraft."

Reed and Larry La Rue Clark who is held in St. Paul in $15,000 bond, were charged with the attempted robbery of the Ames Plaza Bank in a residential shopping center in Omaha Oct. 20.

Three heavily armed men exchanged shots inside the bank with off-duty Police Sgt. William Tate, working as a bank guard. Tate was hit in the shoulder but recovered and the three fled without loot.

WARRANTS in Omaha charge Reed and Clark with unlawful entry of a bank, the use of a firearm in commission of a felony and shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim. Omaha officials said extradition proceedings are under way against Clark and will be started against Reed. No other arrests have been made in the case so far.

Reed is also sought in connection with a St. Paul bank robbery. As pieced together by statements from Minneapolis Police Chief Jerry Lutz, Deputy Joseph Rusinko and St. Paul police sources, this was the background leading to Reed's arrest.

Police had a tip that Reed was in the area and learned of the reported plot to kidnap LeVander, Republican governor who is retiring in January after a four-year term. Also named as a target of the plot was Mrs. Rosalie Butler, St. Paul city councilwoman and wife of a wealthy contractor active in Democratic affairs.

Police Thursday night placed a heavy guard around the governor's mansion and the Butler home next door, on Summit Avenue in St. Paul.

NEITHER the governor nor other occupants of the two homes was aware of the guard. Nor was the Department of Public Safety, the state agency charged with protecting the governor, tipped off.

About two dozen airport police, FBI agents and local officers kept vigil at the Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport. Some members of the Minneapolis police tactical squad boarded an Eastern Airlines plane in plain clothes on the hunch it might be one of the planes intended for hijacking.

When officers arrested Reed, who was dressed, they found notepad memos

No Letup Seen in Gale-Force Winds

Combined News Services

Firemen battling raging forest fires in a two-county area face a second day of gusting, 60-mile-an-hour Santa Ana winds, the U.S. Weather Bureau said Friday night.

No respite from the gales is expected before Sunday, the weatherman said, with the "devil winds" prevailing in mountains, valleys, canyons and flatlands.

More than 1,000 persons fled the fire at the San Bernardino Mountain community of Running Springs, with smaller evacuations over other portions of Riverside and San Bernardino counties. At least three firemen were injured fighting the blazes, one with first degree burns. Three homes were leveled in Riverside County and a State Forestry truck was also destroyed. More than 40,000 acres — much of it precious timberland — was blackened in the two counties.

FIREFIGHTERS said flatly that they couldn't hope to contain the wind-whipped flames Friday night. The weatherman's prediction of another day of the random, misdirected Santa Anas, hinted that it may be Sunday before the flames can be fully controlled.

The winds, which reached recorded gusts of 100 miles per hour in predawn hours Friday, eased enough late Friday afternoon to allow some aerial tankers to begin water and chemical drops on key locations. Earlier, all air support for the estimated 600 firemen deployed along the fire perimeter.

The fires, which cast a pall of dark smoke visible in the east from throughout Los Angeles and Orange Counties, were identified by fire officials as three general locations. They are:

—San Bernardino—Judged the worst of the three, it caused the evacuation of Running Springs and the smaller villages of Fredaba, Smiley Park and

Radio Chat

Q. My friend would like to speak with her son in Vietnam on a ham radio during the Christmas holidays. Can ACTION LINE find out how she should go about arranging a call? M.H., Bellflower.

A. Phone-radio conversations with servicemen in Vietnam must originate from a base in Vietnam, according to Nate Brightman, past president of the Long Beach Association of Radio Amateurs.

"She should have her son go to the MARS (Military Affiliated Radio Service) station on his base in Vietnam to arrange the call." The serviceman gives the name of the person and number he wishes to reach to the radio operator there. Brightman said that since so many G.I.s want to place calls during the holidays, her son should have several phone numbers of relatives ready to give the operator, in case no one is at home at the first number the operator tries. The call is received by which-ever MARS station in the United States is getting the best reception. The receiving station places a collect phone call to the party in the United States, who may then speak directly to the serviceman by telephone-radio hookup. The MARS stations in the United States are operated by radio amateurs on military bases, using military radio equipment. You may not place a call to Vietnam through a MARS station here.

Permit

A. I am 15 and a student at Poly High. My driver education teacher said that beginning Nov. 23, you only have to be 15 to obtain a learners permit, rather than 15½. Can ACTION LINE give me more information about this new law and whether it will apply here? A.S., Long Beach.

A. The state now can issue learners permits to persons age 15 and over so that they can take the behind-the-wheel drivers training, according to a spokesman for the local school district. But for a 15-year-old to get the permit he must be enrolled in or have completed the theory portion of the driver education class. High schools in the district will accept 15-year-olds in the behind-the-wheel portion of the class if there is room, but older students will have priority for the class space. The spokesman said he would contact your teacher to answer any questions he might have.

150 SPILLAGE OFFENSES

U.S. Indicts Humble Oil

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The government Friday accused one of the nation's largest oil companies with the unsafe operation of 33 oil wells off the Louisiana coast. The company faced a fine of as much as $300,000.

The action against Humble Oil and Refining Co. resulted from a giant oil spill last winter which brought a $1 million fine against Chevron Oil Co.

Humble officials declined comment on the charge. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced in Washington that a criminal information, legally similar to an indictment although it is instigated by a U.S. attorney, was filed in New Orleans.

The government alleged Humble had committed 150 misdemeanor offenses in violation of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953. But, a federal official said Humble was now "in full compliance" with the law.

Each listed could result in a maximum fine of $2,000 on conviction. Humble, therefore, could face a penalty of $300,000 on charges it "knowingly and willfully" failed to install and maintain safety devices on the 33 Gulf of Mexico oil wells.

U.S. Atty. Gerald J. Gainghouse of New Orleans said the charges grew out of an investigation of offshore oil operations in the Gulf of Mexico following the fire in several wells operated by Chevron.

SEVEN of the wells linked to a platform caught fire last Feb. 10 and burned until March 10, when the fire was extinguished by a dynamite charge. Meantime, the wells had spewed 600 to 1,000 barrels of oil daily into the gulf until the last one was capped on March 31. Extensive pollution occurred in the area.

State Dept. Clears Tydings-After Election

WASHINGTON — Ten days after Sen. Joseph D. Tydings was beaten in his bid for re-election, the State Department has publicly cleared the Maryland Democrat of reports that he misused his congressional influence in a 1964-1965 Nicaraguan housing project in which Tydings eventually profited.

The department delay in issuing the report until after the election drew immediate and bitter criticism on Capitol Hill Friday night from Tydings' aides and other supporters.

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, chairman of the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee, said he was "sickened" to learn the report followed rather than preceded the elections.

Oil Rig Explosion in Gulf Hurts 14

HOUSTON, Tex. — Humble Oil and Refining Co. officials here said an explosion on an oil rig off the Louisiana coast Friday night injured 14 persons.

A spokesman said the accident occurred on a rig 27 miles south of Grand Isle, La., in the Gulf of Mexico.

Details of the explosion and names of the injured were not immediately available, the spokesman said, because thunderstorms moving through the area had interrupted radio communications with the rig, which Humble identified as its West Delta Block 73C platform.

Both Humble and contract personnel were injured in what was believed to have been a flash explosion and first reports indicated there was no fire or blowout of the well.

The Humble office at Grand Isle said some of the injured were being moved via helicopter to St. Anne's Hospital in Raceland, La.

LAIRD THREATENS TO BOMB N. VIET

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird warned Friday the United States is prepared to strike again at North Vietnamese anti-aircraft batteries if there are further attacks on unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes.

Laird spoke several hours after the U.S. command announced in Saigon that an RF-4 reconnaissance jet had been downed by enemy ground fire about 42 miles south of Vinh in North Vietnam. Its two crew members are presumed dead.

U.S. warplanes in the past have bombed enemy anti-aircraft positions to safeguard reconnaissance aircraft, but there apparently was no such action in connection with the latest loss.

"We remain ready," Laird said, "to take appropriate action in response" to firings on unarmed American planes over North Vietnam, to any major troop incursions across the demilitarized zone and to shelling of South Vietnamese cities.

Bloodless Coup Staged in Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Defense Minister Hafez al-Assad staged a bloodless coup in Syria Friday night, ousting Marxist leaders of the ruling Baath party, a spokesman for the deposed leftists reported.

The defeat of Syrian armor by Jordanian warplanes and artillery in Jordan's civil war last September was said to have been a factor in the power struggle.

ASSAD, 40-year-old air marshal, is considered a moderate in the Baath Socialist movement but has been an advocate of all-out war against Israel.

He snatched at least a temporary victory from defeat at the end of a three-week power struggle with Maj. Gen. Salah Jadid, assistant secretary-general of the Baath party and leader of the Marxist faction.

Jadid and President Nureddin Al-Atassi were under arrest, according to the party spokesman who told a news conference he drove to Lebanon to break the news of the coup.

He said an emergency party congress voted Thursday to dismiss Assad from all his government and army posts and also fired Assad's ally, Chief of Staff Gen. Mustafa Tlas.

BUT ASSAD ignored the congress, which was packed with Jadid's supporters. His private corps of air force intelligence officers rounded up his rivals.

The fight for power between Assad and Jadid, 39, apparently hit its peak when Syrian tanks went into northern Jordan to help Palestinian guerrillas fighting King Hussein's Jordanian army.

Sources said Assad refused to give the Syrian armor air support in fear of tangling with Israeli warplanes. The tanks took a beating.

The informants said Assad blamed the whole episode on the Baath party command.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS Chancellor Heyns Quits UC Berkeley

Combined News Services

After five years in one of the hottest seats in education, Roger Heyns Friday resigned as chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley. The 52-year-old Heyns said his decision was motivated by "many considerations," professional and personal, and added that "I am not mad at anybody, I am not a martyr."

"When I came here, I told my staff I thought I would use all my energy and credit in about five to seven years," he said at a news conference. Heyns arrived in 1965 after the famous Berkeley Free Speech Movement. During his tenure, riots occurring over the "People's Park" and other issues, brought police, National Guardsmen and tear gas to his campus.

Heyns, who suffered a mild heart attack last summer, said he was unable to fulfill all the great demands on him "to my satisfaction." He said his health was not a primary factor in his decision.

His resignation will be effective June 30, or before then if a successor is found. The chancellor denied that political pressure for his ouster was a consideration, and advised the university president, Charles Hitch, of his intention before the election. Heyns has accepted a job as professor of psychology and education at the University of Michigan. A psychologist by training, Heyns was a teacher and administrator at Michigan for 18 years before coming to Berkeley.

The former First Lady said she lives "from day to day" and finds it all exciting. Her birthday is actually today, but the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia decided to salute her a day early at the Congressional Club. ### AGNEW ABSENT

Vice President Spiro Agnew wasn't present Friday night to receive the "Order of the Bird," but he sent his "rueful regrets, avian apologies and prothomatory pretexts." Agnew also said he didn't deserve it. The National Association of Professional Bureaucrats picked Agnew for the award because of his noted ability to use big words, something bureaucrats also do. In a telegram, Agnew told the organization, which spoofs bureaucrats, that "in all meiotic modesty must recommend others as possessing prolusionary processes more deserving."

KILLERS KILLED

Maria Groesbeck, 36, and Louis Winterbach Van Rensburg, 25, were hanged Friday in Pretoria, South Africa Central Prison. Prison officials kept relatives and newsmen away during the successive executions. Mrs. Groesbeck was convicted of poisoning her husband and Van Rensburg was found guilty of strangling a young woman in her bath.

The wife of the U.S. attorney general was as usual, freewheeling in all her comments at a party she gave at her Washington apartment in honor of Marie Smith, new bride of New York multimillionaire Arnold Schwartz.

One of the guests, a Texas newspaper woman, told her that in Texas Mrs. Mitchell was being pointed out as a true example of woman's liberation with headlines that say, "Martha Mitchell doesn't have to burn her bra. All she does is open her mouth."

CLEGG FORMULA

Billy Joe Clegg, a 42-year-old Oklahoma City salesman, is forming his own political party and plans to campaign for the White House in 1972 in the "Clegg Formula." The plan involves ending the Vietnam war by bringing draft-age South Vietnamese men to the U.S. "Train them to fight and while they are in America let them see Democracy in action," Clegg said in a newspaper advertisement. "I really can't lose. If they think I'm crazy, the state will rehabilitate me."

BUDGE RESIGNS

Harmer Budge resigned Friday as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The White House said President Nixon accepted Budge's resignation but asked him to stay on the job through the current congressional session. Budge has been an SEC commissioner for 6½ years.

Unarmed Plane Downed, 2 Killed

Combined News Services

SAIGON — An unarmed U.S. Phantom reconnaissance plane was shot down over North Vietnam Friday, both crewmen aboard apparently being killed, U.S. spokesmen said. In South Vietnam, there was a sudden upsurge in combat in which Communists killed 13 Americans.

Six of the Americans were killed in the explosion of a mine, two by a booby trap, three in clashes with Communist forces near Saigon and two others in an ambush on an element of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division near Hue. Fifteen other Americans were wounded in the ambush.

Canada to Back Red China

UNITED NATIONS — Canada announced Friday it will vote for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations and expulsion of Nationalist China. But Ambassador Yvon Beaulne told the U.N. General Assembly his country also will support for the time being the U.S. contention that the question is an important one requiring a two-thirds majority for approval. In the debate the U.S. now is concentrating on preventing expulsion of the Chinese nationalists rather than the blocking of Peking.

$6 Million Jewel Robbery

MONTEVIDEO — Nine Tupamaro guerrillas, using three kidnaped bank officials as shields to get past guards, robbed Uruguay's Bank of the Republic Friday of an estimated $6 million in jewels and cash. If preliminary estimates of the loot as given by a bank spokesman are correct, it would be not only the biggest bank robbery but also the biggest jewel robbery on record. The initial estimate was that $6 million in jewels and $48,000 in cash were taken.

Old Foes to Draft Treaty

WARSAW, Saturday — West Germany and Communist Poland announced today they had agreed on a draft treaty to normalize relations after 21 years of enmity. Sources close to the talks said it was agreed that the treaty text, exchange of notes between West Germany and the allies and the Polish letter of intent for repatriating Germans, will be published at the time of signing. Poland, who lost 6 million people as the first victim of Nazi aggression in World War II, says the basic terms for normalizing relations is Bonn's recognition of her western frontier.

COLOMBEY-LES-DEUX-EGLISES — The Shah of Iran led a group of statesmen and ordinary Frenchmen in a pilgrimage to this village Friday to pay homage at the grave of former President Charles de Gaulle. The white granite tombstone, inscribed simply "Charles de Gaulle 1890-1970," was bedecked with flowers and wreaths and rapidly becoming a national shrine. In Paris, the city council voted unanimously Friday to rename the place De L'Etoile, which surrounds the Arch of Triumphant, the "Place Charles de Gaulle." De Gaulle died Monday of a heart attack.

GM Pact Near; Ford Sets Strike Date

DETROIT — The United Auto Workers served a Dec. 7 strike deadline notice Friday on Ford Motor Co. as its General Motors members began voting on a new three-year contract. A 2,000-member local union at a stamping plant at West Mifflin, Pa., was the first to vote on the new GM contract and reported overwhelming approval. UAW Vice President Ken Bannon called for a resumption of negotiations at Ford for Nov. 23 and said if there were no settlement by Dec. 7 there would be a strike against that automaker.

Packages Need More Postage

WASHINGTON Saturday — Beginning today, packages will require an average 15 per cent more postage, the Post Office Department reminded patrons Friday. That's when new parcel post rates go into effect. The higher rates were approved last summer by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which controls rates for mailing packages.

CHRISTMAS BONUS FOR SERVICEMEN

WASHINGTON — Many American servicemen whose hitches are just about up will be given a Christmas bonus in the form of release up to two weeks earlier so they can shed their uniforms before the holidays, the Pentagon said Friday. The early discharge policy will apply to those who normally would be discharged from active duty between mid-December and Jan. 3, 1971. All Navy and Air Force men in that category, no matter where stationed, will be eligible. The Army said it would allow early discharges for personnel stationed in the continental U.S. and in "overseas areas which are also their permanent areas of residence." For Marines, the policy will apply only to those based in the U.S.

Personal Income Hit by Strike

WASHINGTON — Personal incomes dropped $2.4 billion in October, with factory workers bearing most of the loss because of the General Motors strike, the government said Friday. But corporation profits before taxes rose $3 billion during the third quarter of the year despite the strike. The Commerce Department said the increase occurred primarily in non-manufacturing industries.

Climbers Snub Rescue, Push On

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK — Two rock climbers crept past the 2,000-foot mark of El Capitan Friday in their 22nd day on the sheer wall, with 1,000 feet still to go after rejecting a rescue offer. Climbers Warren Harding and Dean Caldwell shouted down by bullhorn, in response to a rescue effort. "A rescue is not warranted, is not wanted, and we will not accept it." The pair launched their effort to conquer the granite monolith Oct. 23. It has never been done.

U.S.-Mexico Relations at Peak

WASHINGTON — President Nixon met Friday with Mexican President-elect Luis Echeverria, and the two leaders concluded that relations between their countries have never been better than they are now. The White House said Nixon and Echeverria agreed to continue exchanges of presidential visits which have become traditional between Mexico and the United States for the past 30 years. Echeverria had lunch at the White House and then conferred with Nixon for an hour and 20 minutes, mostly on border issues and international affairs.

Shooting Described by Youth

By MOLLY BURRELL
Staff Writer

Bruce Longson, 18, on trial for murder in the fatal shooting of his stepfather, testified Friday he was scared when the victim broke into his North Long Beach home last June 8 but "didn't intend to kill anyone."

Longson, of 6129 Gaviota Ave., is charged with killing Robert Mitchell, 40, his mother's estranged husband. The shooting took place three years to the day after Mitchell slew the youth's father.

The young defendant took the stand in Long Beach Superior Court in the fourth day of a trial which has featured disclosures of a tangled love triangle and threats of violence between himself and the victim.

LONGSON testified he had first met Mitchell in 1964 as a neighbor, and that subsequently Mitchell moved away.

On June 8, 1967, Bruce said, his father, Donald Longson, asked to borrow his gun, and drove to Mitchell's house to discuss a relationship between Mitchell and Mrs. Longson.

Young Longson said he followed on his bicycle, and arrived in time to see his father fall, mortally wounded from shots fired by Mitchell. He testified he fired several times at the glow of a cigarette in Mitchell's front window.

Later, the youth said, Mitchell came to live with his mother, and they ran a restaurant for a few months.

The youth said he and Mitchell got along all right until midsummer, 1969, when they began to argue. He said he moved out in November 1969, when Mitchell ordered him to leave.

The defendant testified his mother told him Mitchell had slapped her around. Young Longson said he was afraid of Mitchell but didn't want to kill him.

FOUR DAYS before the killing, the youth said, Mitchell moved out. On the day of the shooting, Young Longson said, his stepfather called about picking up some belongings. The defendant said he locked the garage, gate and doors of the house when he saw Mitchell arrive.

He said Mitchell banged on the front door so hard the plaster was dislodged around the frame.

At this point, the youth said, he ran to the bedroom, grabbed and loaded a 7.65mm Mauser rifle and returned to the hallway just as Mitchell pushed the door in.

Longson said he fired once, holding the rifle waist high. He shot again, he said, after Mitchell fell, got up, and staggered into the kitchen.

CHALLENGING I. P.T. SERIES SET SUNDAY

Major issues involving all of us today are interpreted in an analysis by Erwin D. Canham, editor-in-chief of the Christian Science Monitor.

"We have come to a turning point in history which we must all try to understand," he writes.

"If we do not, great anguish and turmoil lie ahead. If we do build bridges of understanding, world society — led by the United States — could move into a wonderfully hopeful period."

An 8-article series by Canham, a member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, starts Sunday in your Independent, Press-Telegram.

STATE ENDS MANSON CASE

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

After 84 witnesses and 22 weeks of trial, the State Friday concluded its case against Charles Manson and three of his girl disciples in the Tate-LaBianca murder trial.

Formal "resting" of the prosecution's case, however, will not take place until after arguments for the admission of 297 exhibits introduced during the marathon trial.

Defense attorneys are expected to begin presenting their case sometime next week.

CHIEF defense counsel Paul Fitzgerald said the defendants will call 30 witnesses including the hippie leader. There is a possibility, he said, that one of the girl defendants will also take the stand.

Final state witness Friday was Dr. Harold C. Deering, a court-appointed psychiatrist who examined one of the chief prosecution witnesses, Dianne Lake, and ruled she was competent to testify. Miss Lake, a Manson "family" dropout, had been committed to Patton State Hospital from January to August of 1970, despite the fact, the doctor testified, that she had no mental illness. She was kept at the hospital under a court conservatorship.

When first admitted to the mental facility, the doctor said, the girl was suffering from a drug-induced psychosis which was "cured" within two weeks. Interhospital memos indicated the girl did not want to do anything to hurt her friends in the district attorney's office in Los Angeles and would possibly be arrested if released.

Chief prosecutor Vincent Bugliosi said he expected to call an additional ten prosecution witnesses during rebuttal testimony, following the defense case.

MEANWHILE, one of the girl defendants, Patricia Krenwinkel, Friday was ordered by Superior Court Judge Harold Older to provide the prosecution with handwriting exemplars Monday at 9 a.m.

The prosecution charges Miss Krenwinkel wrote the words "Rise," "Helter Skelter" and "Death to Pigs" in blood on the walls of the home of market owner Leno LaBianca after killing him and his wife. The girl had been ordered to provide the exemplars three weeks ago and had refused.

Her attorney indicated she would again refuse.

Judge Older, in issuing the second order, reminded the girl she has no constitutional right to refuse to furnish the exemplars and that if she does refuse the prosecution may argue to the jury that failure to comply is "a consciousness of guilt."

Lockheed Tops List in Pentagon Contracts

Lockheed Aircraft Co. led all other firms in the nation during fiscal years 1970 in the dollar value of both its prime defense contracts and its military research and development work, the Pentagon said Friday.

Lockheed builds the controversial C5A Galaxy giant jet transport, the T3 Orion patrol bomber, the Polaris and Poseidon submarine launched missiles and the Agena space rocket. The C5A has been the target of criticism on cost overruns, and Lockheed has found itself in financial difficulty because of the huge jet.

RELEASING lists of the top 100 prime defense contractors and the top 500 research and development contractors for the fiscal year that ended June 30, the Pentagon said most firms on both lists had been there the year before.

Lockheed's $1.84 billion in prime defense contracts put it at the head of the top 100 for the second year in a row. The company received $526 million in research and development contracts, placing it ahead of the other 499 top firms in that field.

The Pentagon said $21.8 billion of the total $31.3 billion spent on prime contracts went to the top companies.

Jury Being Chosen for 2 Chicanos

Jury selection began Friday in the Municipal Court trial of two chicano leaders charged with carrying concealed weapons during Aug. 29 rioting in East Los Angeles.

The courtroom was crowded with supporters of the two Colorado Mexican-American activists, Rudolfo "Corky" Gonzales, 42, and Albert Gurule, 27.

Arrest warrants were issued for them earlier Friday but voided when they showed up late. Gonzales explained they had become lost in the large court building.

EACH is charged with misdemeanor counts of carrying a loaded firearm and carrying a concealed weapon. They were the only persons arrested when police stopped a flatbed truck carrying about 25 persons a few miles from the riot area.

Gonzales heads the Denver-based Crusade for Justice. Gurule was the La Raza Unida, the People United, candidate for governor of Colorado in the recent election.

TO SECURE MURDER TRIAL.

Police Ring L.B. Courthouse

The tightest security in the history of the Long Beach courthouse prevailed Friday when Judge Hampton Hutton granted a prosecution motion to try accused holdup-killer John Jackson separately from his two co-defendants.

Precautions were taken in response to rumors that an attempt would be made to free Jackson during court proceedings.

Uniformed and plainclothes Long Beach police bolstered by 20 sheriff's deputies, blanketed the area in and around the courtroom and searched spectators before the three defendants were led in for the 20-minute session.

There were no incidents.

Davis Guilty of Slaying 4 Patrolmen

A Superior Court jury convicted Bobby Augustus Davis, 29, Friday of murdering four California Highway patrolmen in front of a Saugus coffee shop 35 miles north of Los Angeles last April 5.

The penalty phase of the Van Nuys trial will begin Monday. Jurors took about five hours to deliberate their verdict after a five-week trial.

THE FOUR officers were killed when they unwittingly foiled a bank robbery-kidnap plot by Davis and his partner, Jack W. Twinning, 35, officials said. Twinning killed himself, police said, when officers started closing in on the home where he barricaded himself after fleeing the slaying scene.

Davis, an ex-convict from Oklahoma, was caught after a chase and held without bail until the trial. The defense argued that his mind was operating at diminished capacity at the time of the slayings.

The four officers killed during the blazing gun battle off Interstate 5 freeway were Walter C. Fragg and Robert D. Gore, both 23; James B. Pence Jr., 25, and George M. Allen, 24.

They had been called to the scene by a motorist's complaint he had been shot at.

AT THE TIME of Davis' arrest, a spokesman for the FBI said Davis' crime record extended back to his teen-age years.

Jackson, tall, thin, and silent, listened without show of emotion as Judge Hutton granted Dep. Dist. Atty. George Trammell's motion for separate trial for him. Hutton set a trial date of Jan. 4.

The cause for severance, according to Trammell and attorneys for defendants Wendell Irving Hills, 24, and Tommie Lee Bangham, 28, is that Jackson's statements to officers tend to implicate the other two defendants in murder, robbery, and grand theft charges filed against him as a result of crimes last Sept. 3.

Jackson is also charged with kidnapping, rape, and sex perversion, allegedly committed four days after the other offenses.

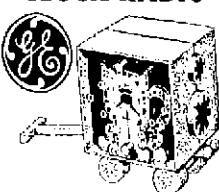

The three suspects were arrested last Sept. 8 for the Sept. 3 murder of Clerk Walt Mason of the Crest Liquor Store, 2971 Santa Fe Ave.

The defendants were heavily guarded in earlier court appearances, but Friday, security precautions were doubled.

Trials for the other two defendants were set for Feb. 22 in Los Angeles Superior Court at the request of Bangham's attorney, Everett Ricks and Albert C. S. Ramsey, representing Hills.

Jackson's attorney, Dep. Public Defender Malcolm McMillen, won court approval for a physician to take an electrocardiogram and cranial x-rays of the defendant as part of a Hills and Bangham are charged with robbery and murder only.

WINDS WHIP BIG BEAR FIRE

(Continued from Page A-1) Mountain Home, according to the U.S. Forest Service. More than 30,000 acres were ravaged by the flames in the San Bernardino fire. — Loma Linda — Identified as set by arsonists, more than 5,000 acres were claimed by this blaze. Three homes and the $20,000 fire truck were lost in Reche Canyon, also east of Riverside, but some residents were forced to evacuate.

— Box Springs — More than 2,000 acres were consumed in this fire, which burned to within a half mile of the Riverside International Raceway. Firemen said the fire, which threatened commercial and police radio operations for a time, was also set by arsonists.

Other casualties of the three fires included deer and other animals, some in a game preserve, killed by the swiftly-moving flames. The overall area covered by the San Bernardino fire was a nine-mile-long fringer — five miles across at its widest point — which reached down from near the 8,000-foot level to the foothills of the San Bernardino National Forest.

Dave Flohr, a spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service, said the fire was moving so quickly and unpredictably that it was impossible to tell the boundaries of the fire from one minute to the next. He said it was impossible to predict either containment or control.

"WE'RE JUST fighting and retreating," Flohr said. "We're having a hard time keeping up with it."

Schools in the San Bernardino Mountains closed down, partially to keep families united and partially to allow use of school facilities as staging areas; the Rim of the World High School was used as an evacuation center.

Roads into the blackened areas were closed to all traffic. Law enforcement officers pleaded with private citizens to stay away from the fire areas.

When the order to evacuate Running Springs came, the 1,000 citizens responded promptly to directions from sheriff's deputies with bullhorns. Trucks loaded with household gear lined streets, awaiting the evacuation order.

Oddly, it was the usually-treacherous Santa Ana winds which saved Running Springs Friday, with the 50-mile-an-hour desert gusts establishing an invisible barrier between the flames and the little mountain hamlet.

"As long as the wind is from the north," said Chuck Hoffman, principal of Running Springs Elementary School, "we're not in trouble."

THE SAN Bernardino blaze was believed to have started near the western reaches of Big Bear Lake late Thursday. There were no estimates from forestry officials on how the blaze might have been started. One spokesman said all they were concerned with was "how to get it stopped."

The San Bernardino blaze, spurred by the winds, leaped firebreaks, roads and even major highways.

"There are numerous firebreaks in the area," said Flohr, "but they haven't even slowed it down."

"When you get wind conditions like this, all you can basically do is follow the fire along, steer it somewhat and hope to catch it with a break in the wind conditions."

Firemen in the other two areas said they hoped to contain if not control those blazes before daybreak today. A series of smaller fires — including one at Lytle Creek believed started by smoldering roots from a 2-month-old fire fanned into flames by the Santa Anas — were brought under control promptly with small acreage and no injuries or major property damage reported.

Fillmore Fire Running Wild

FILLMORE (UPI) — A 75-acre brush fire was burning out of control Friday night at Africa USA east of here, but the animals were reportedly in no immediate danger.

Fire broke out on the wild animal compound in mid-afternoon, and about 105 Ventura County firemen were fighting the flames.

PLOT

linked to the plot, said Rusinko. On one was jotted "Kidnap governor — liberate prisoner — hijack — leave country — high-jack."

Another ungrammatical note was addressed to the crew of a plane for transmission to the control tower. Police released its contents, including — "We our revolutionary, take heed to our first and last warning. If any attempt to interfere or stop us, we will blow this airplane up and everything on it. We are well arm and we our carrying explosives. The plane & hostages will be held until our demands our met."

POLICE SAID the plan was to demand release from jail in St. Paul Constable L. Trimble, 18, held in the ambush shooting death of a St. Paul policeman in May; Gary Hogan, 17, awaiting trial for the bombing of a Dayton's department store restroom in August, and Reed's fellow fugitive from Omaha, Clark.

The scheme also included freeing Miss Davis and two others, on a one-for-one basis among hostages on the plane intended to be hijacked, police said.

Miss Davis is held in New York and wanted at San Rafael on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 courthouse shooting fatal to four persons.

Police in Minneapolis said others intended to be freed in the plot were George Jackson, awaiting trial in California on charges of killing a guard at Soledad prison, and Bobby Seale, accused in Connecticut of conspiracy to murder a Black Panther member. Jackson is a brother of Jonathan, who was killed in the San Rafael shooting.

CHIEF LUTZ said the notes on Reed stated, "We want the Black Panther party to be given national t.v. time to present the program & platform. We want 50,000 in gold."

Lutz did not know who else may have been involved in the plot. He added he did not know if Reed, a Negro, was a member of the Panthers.

Reed was being held in the Ramsey County jail at St. Paul.

The governor later issued a statement praising police action in the case. It said in part, "I want to commend the law enforcement agencies of Minneapolis, St. Paul and the federal government for their swift and efficient action in dealing with what may have been revolutionaries' attack on judicial procedures through a plot against the safety of elected officials. As governor, I deplore the attitude and the thinking of any individual or group of individuals who allegedly planned a kidnap-extortion plot."

Hijacked Eastern Airline

Crew in Huddle With FBI

MIAMI (UPI) — A young black man, holding a cocked "old-model pistol" at the captain's head, hijacked an Eastern Airlines jet with 82 persons aboard to Cuba Friday shortly after takeoff from Raleigh, N.C.

The plane, which had no air marshal aboard, was permitted to return to the United States after about six hours in Havana. Left behind was the hijacker, identified by Eastern as Gilbert Jones, who had boarded at Raleigh.

The pilot, Capt. Thomas W. Mayberry, and the crew were closeted with FBI agents on their arrival at Miami International Airport. The passengers began making new connections to their destinations.

One of the passengers, Woodrow Price, managing editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, said the hijacker was taken off the plane at Havana by Cuban authorities and disarmed.

"They appeared to be pretty friendly with him, but they relieved him of his gun," Price said.

Price said when the plane stopped in Jacksonville to refuel, the hijacker ordered the passengers to stay in their seats "or he would deal with the crew."

"The passengers were a little tense after that," Price said. "A great feeling of relief swept through the passengers when we got down to Cuba."

FEW ON U.S. ROUTES

Sky Police Used Sparingly

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although most airlines are reluctant to talk about it, sky marshals are limited to only a few flights on domestic schedules although they are widely used on international flights.

Eastern Airlines has not yet instituted sky marshals to help prevent hijacks. A spokesman for the firm said that so far, checks of luggage by magnetometer and of passengers by personnel trained in spotting potential hijackers had worked well. He said Eastern has had two hijackings this year compared with 10 last year.

"We'd rather take precautionary measures at air terminals rather than risk a shootout in the air," the spokesman said. "But this doesn't mean that we might not institute sky marshals sometime in the future."

United Airlines said it has had three sky marshals on 747 Jumbo flights and two on many standard jet flights for the past several weeks and planned to expand security as more guards complete their training. It said training in behavioral profiling of potential hijackers was also being expanded.

Use of magnetometers by the airlines is limited because of scarcity of the instruments and lines are following Federal Aeronautics Administration advice as to which high risky airports should be equipped with these portable devices. Several of the airlines expressed gratification with the success of pre-flight security checks.

Comments ranged from an American spokesman who said, "we're not using a hell of a lot of sky marshals, certainly not on every flight" to a national official who said, "yes, we use sky marshals, but we're not giving out any details for obvious reasons." Pan American Airways, which flies only international routes, said sky marshaling was "very widespread with us."

'No Information' on Sub Base in Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that despite the return of two Soviet naval vessels to the Cuban port of Cienfuegos it has no information to indicate the Russians are trying to establish a naval base there.

Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey made the statement at a news briefing when questioned about the return Tuesday of a Soviet submarine tender and barge to the port.

Asked if the U.S. government has firm information that the Soviets are trying to build a base at Cienfuegos, McCloskey replied: "They say they are not. We said that we regarded that as a positive statement and I have no information to the contrary."

The appearance of the same submarine tender at Cienfuegos two months ago prompted the Defense Department and the White House to issue statements Sept. 25 mentioning possible construction of a base. The White House warned it "would view the establishment of a strategic base in the Caribbean with the utmost seriousness."

Carson Crash Kills Driver, Injures Rider

A Los Angeles man was killed in a two-car accident on an off-ramp of the San Diego Freeway in Carson Friday night.

Potasi Afasene, 20, was killed almost instantly when the auto he was driving collided with another driven by Daniel Cowser, 17, of 20211 S. Dalfsen Ave., Carson.

The accident occurred at 7:48 p.m. on the Avalon Boulevard off-ramp.

Afasene's passenger, Faaiuga Asuega, 19, of Los Angeles, was in serious condition at Harbor General Hospital. Cowser was not seriously injured.

U.S. Awaits Red OK on Student Poll POW Mail

Gives Angela Empty Title

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Students at Sacramento City College voted nearly 3-1 Friday against the student executive senate's selection of Angela Davis as honorary homecoming queen.

Results in the poll showed 1,200 students against the senate's action and 495 in favor of it.

Miss Davis, in custody in New York City, was indicted this week by the Marin County grand jury on charges she was involved in the plot which led to the Aug. 7 San Rafael courthouse shooting.

THE SENATE Monday night voted 12-3 to name Miss Davis as the honorary queen. However, the senate voted 14-9 Thursday to conduct a student poll.

Student officials said the student poll would not affect the earlier action and Miss Davis would be the honorary queen during Saturday's festivities.

There are 7,800 daytime students at SCC.

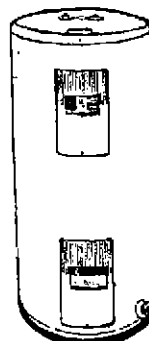

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Friday he met several persons in Paris this week to try to arrange delivery of mail to U.S. prisoners in N. Vietnam, and is awaiting Hanoi's answer before taking further steps.

Blount went to Paris last Sunday under orders from President Nixon to do everything possible, even to go to Hanoi if necessary, to see that the mail gets through, especially during the Christmas season.

He returned Thursday night, and said in his statement Friday he is "awaiting a reaction to our initiatives before taking additional steps." He did not elaborate, but the Post Office said "a lot of options" were available.

Blount met in Paris with David K. E. Bruce, U.S. ambassador to the Paris peace talks, and others whom he would not identify. There were indications they included the Swiss and various East European diplomats who have handled previous messages between Washington and Hanoi.

'Deadly' Containers Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration warned residents, restaurants and institutions in seven states Friday that containers of two brands of meat tenderizers actually hold large quantities of sodium nitrate, a deadly poison.

The FDA said a label mixup apparently was the reason containers of "Spice of Life" and "Country Taverns" actually held 97 per cent of the highly toxic chemical used in dyes, medicines and, in small quantities, to make meat stay red. It could cause death, a spokesman said, if eaten or used on meat.

The products, the FDA said, are being recalled voluntarily by their manufacturer, Mutual Spice Co., a division of High Grade Food Products Co., North Bergen, N.J., from store shelves, restaurants and institutions in Virginia, Minnesota, New Jersey, Ohio, New York, Michigan and Kansas. It is sold in cans and bottles in 1 1/2-pound and 2 1/2-ounce containers.

THE FDA said it did not know how many containers were on the market but that it believes distribution was not extensive. The products were distributed between March, 1969, and Oct. 2, 1970, and the firm started pulling back orders Oct. 30.

Ruling Jolts Marriages in Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — A ruling that kicked a hippie dope pusher out of the justice of the peace job he won election day put hundreds of Kansas marriages in doubt Friday.

The legality of marriages performed by justices of the peace in the past two years was questioned by Phillip C. Hill, a Lawrence, Kan., college dropout whose election was nullified Thursday.

KANSAS Attorney General Kent Frizzell said the office of justice of the peace no longer exists — despite the fact it was on the Nov. 3 ballot — because the state Legislature abolished it two years ago.

"That leaves a lot of bastard children running around," said Hill of the ruling aimed at keeping him from taking office.

The attorney general's office ruled Friday, however, that couples married by the extinct justices are living as common-law husbands and wives.

"Couples involved in marriages — performed by defrocked justices of the peace are married under Kansas common law at the very least," Frizzell's office said. "They are the same as if a minister married them. In the eyes of the law, they are married."

"If THEY want to separate, they're going to have to get a divorce just like anybody else."

FDA WILL BAN FOUR TOYS AS HAZARDOUS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration Friday moved to ban four toys as hazardous. It was the first such action under the 1969 Toy Safety Act.

The agency also announced a pre-Christmas survey to identify any other toys with electrical, mechanical or thermal hazards.

The two actions follow recent criticism by Rep.

James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., that the FDA has failed to enforce the toy safety law.

The agency said it will publish regulations Tuesday banning toys that can inflict puncture wounds; whose parts can be dislodged and swallowed or inhaled; and noisy toy guns. The ban would be effective after 15 days allowed for public comment. Specifically, the FDA said it intends to ban these four toys: Protect-O-Product, a musical toy that rattles distributed by Reliance Products Corp., Woonsocket, R.I.; Party Pack Five Fringed Balloon Squawkers, distributed by American Party favors, Pittston, Pa.; Jarts, a lawn dart game distributed by R. E. Jarts, Inc., South Glens Falls, N.Y.; and Wasp Cap Gun, distributed by Ohio Art Co., Bryan, Ohio.

U.S. Asked to Help Coal Mine Train Doctor Aides

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — A pioneer in a new program to relieve the national shortage of doctors said Friday the federal government virtually has paid only lip service to the venture and should "put its money where its mouth is."

Dr. Eugene A. Stead Jr. of Duke University's school of medicine — the institution that innovated the four-year-old experiment — also accused the American Medical Association of foot-dragging in helping broaden the program which it has repeatedly endorsed.

D. WALTER C. Bornemier of Chicago, AMA president, said his organization has "probably not been moving as fast as we should" toward implementing the overall objectives of the program, which trains physician's assistants.

Bornemier, responding to Stead's charge, pleaded to urge the AMA's Council on Medical Education to take steps to accredit more medical schools and other institutions for participation in the program, currently limited to about a dozen institutions.

He said he is especially interested in producing the type of broadly trained assistants who could work with family doctors, pediatricians and general internists, as distinguished from those geared only to work with specialists.

The subject came up at the third annual Conference on Physicians' Assistants, sponsored by Duke and attended by 600 doctors, nurses and other health professionals from various parts of the country.

Stead told the conference federal and private medical officials have repeatedly praised the objectives of the program.

But he said only about 75 broadly trained individuals so far have been granted in the country — including 40 from Duke — and that less than 100 are now being trained in the country, despite estimates that up to 100,000 could well be used right now to help relieve the doctor shortage.

"AT CONFERENCE like this," Stead said, "we are really talking about a product that does not exist."

He also said the federal government so far has given only relatively small financial support for such programs.

In an interview later, Stead also said the AMA and the American Association of Medical Colleges have failed "to set up standards for such assistants."

Because of this, he said, accreditation has been given only for training assistants for orthopedic specialists.

Coal Mine Kin Near 'Agreement'

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Widows of 78 men killed in the Farmington coal mine disaster two years ago met Friday with Consolidation Coal Co. officials to negotiate a settlement of claims.

The women and the company were reported near agreement on a proposal under which each of the families of the dead men would receive $10,000 from the coal firm.

In return, the company would receive a promise there would be no lawsuits by the widows.

California Pupils Low on Reading

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California youngsters still read at rates below the national median but, the State Board of Education learned Friday, they are gaining.

Median test scores continued up last year, the board was told, with both first and second graders testing scoring almost one full percentage point higher than a year ago.

But the state's students continued to score under national figures. At the first grade level, where the national norm is a 47, California students scored 35.4 in tests administered last year, up .9 per cent from the prior year.

At the second grade level the California pupils scored 42.6, under the national norm of 50.

Teachers Plan Secret Ballot

Members of the old Associated Classroom Teachers of Los Angeles will hold a secret-ballot election between now and Dec. 15, it was learned Friday.

Superior Court Judge Charles Stratton ordered the election which will determine whether or not there will be a merger between the association and the United Teachers of Los Angeles.

STATE TEACHER GROUP IN REORGANIZATION FIGHT

By RALPH HINMAN JR., Education Editor

Should the massive, 173,000-member California Teachers Association, the state's largest professional educational organization, be reorganized into a seamless, monolithic structure?

Or should the century-old group remain as it long has been, a loosely-knit federation of "six kingdoms and fiefdoms," as one critic calls it, sections representing the state's major geographic areas?

The question may be answered this morning in Los Angeles when the State Council of Education, CTA's policy-making body, meets in the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

RUMORS that the giant Los Angeles-headquartered Southern Section was preparing to withdraw if the pending reorganization gains approval were rife Friday when the council opened its semi-annual two-day meeting.

However, in a press conference,

CTA President Margaret Lemmer of Lemon Grove denied that a major split was in the making. She acknowledged reorganization "is perhaps the most critical issue at this meeting" and predicted its approval.

If approved today, the measure must again be voted on during an April council meeting and then be submitted to the full membership for approval.

The Southern Section would be deeply affected, this newspaper learned unofficially. "SS," as it is called, retains a large professional staff and operates several services, including a federal credit union and cooperative retail buying program, for its members. It numbers between 85,000 and 100,000 members, by far the largest of the sections.

SEVERAL delegates told this newspaper that the question is not one of geography, of the North against the South. It is rather of ideologies, the old standpoint tradition of negotiating with school boards as opposed to the new breed of teacher militance.

Southern Section repeatedly was said to be in the militant camp.

Philharmonic Return Delights

By DANIEL CARRAGA
Music Critic

There is always a good deal of anticipated pleasure in welcoming the Los Angeles Philharmonic back to its home stage at the Music Center's Dorothy Chandler Pavilion at the beginning of a new season. This year's opening night, Thursday, was no exception.

But our actual pleasure in the event, which marked the start of the orchestra's 52nd year -- and its seventh in the Music Center -- was ameliorated by at least two notable circumstances.

FIRST, the Philharmonic, what with its two post-Hollywood Bowl events in September, and three pre-season events at UCLA in October, hardly seems to have been away from our consciousness.

Then, too, some of its playing at this otherwise gala opening night (the clothes were smashing, and there were even fresh flowers on the stage!) was less than tight and neat. The woodwinds, who are currently undergoing what looks like a face-lifting, surprised us all evening with moments of unusual intonational profile, and certain solo lines, particularly in the "Eroica" Symphony, which climaxed the program, were blorbed.

For the most part, however, these were unimportant matters, and could not spoil our optimism concerning what looks to be, on paper, a stunning season.

Zubin Mehta conducted a Beethoven-Varese program beginning with the Third "Leonore" Overture, ending with the "Eroica," and offering at midpoint what may have been the first local hearing of Edgar Varese's "Arcana."

"THIS WAS a satisfying program, juxtaposing as it did an important American work of this century Mehta has never conducted here with the one standard, classical work he seems to have conducted more than any other. What was particularly pleasing was that the 34-year-old maestro brought to the Varese piece all the conviction, intensity, and projection we have sometimes missed in his dutiful presentation of later avant-gardists.

For a work first performed in 1927, "Arcana" seems today to have lost little of its shock value. It is frankly and purposefully noisy, never soothing, and always interesting. That Mehta found its 16-minute span continuously engaging could not have surprised us, but it made the occasion that much more cherishable.

This is that time of year we note personnel changes. New to the Philharmonic are cellist Mary Louise Zeyen, assistant principal viola Alan de Veritech, and assistant first horn Robert Walt, all three of whom played in the 1970 Bowl season. Though no announcement was made, Frederick Moritz seems to have retired as principal bassoon, after 47 years. David Breidenthal is now listed first in that section, Alan Goodman (a new name to us) second. More on this subject later.

WHALE OF A BLAST IN OREGON

FLORENCE, Ore. (UPI) — A demolition crew blew up a 40-ton dead whale with 20 cases of dynamite Thursday, hurling whale meat up to a quarter of a mile.

A huge chunk smashed the roof of an automobile and broke all its windows. Showers of fragmented meat blew hundreds of feet into the sky.

The California gray whale floated up dead on a beach near here Monday. Officials decided the best way to get rid of it was dynamite.

Tunney Urges Welfare Shift

JOHN V. TUNNEY
Seeks to Save Counties

CORONADO — U.S. Sen-elect John V. Tunney, D-Calif., called Friday for nationalization of the public welfare system. The nation's counties will go broke without such a step, he said.

In a speech to California county supervisors, Tunney said he supports President Nixon's welfare plan which Sen. George Murphy and Gov. Reagan, both Republicans, oppose.

The plan would shift some welfare costs to the federal government from the state and local governments.

"I do not feel the local property taxpayer ought to pay any part of the welfare burden," Tunney said. A standing ovation was given the young congressman who defeated Murphy's re-election bid Nov. 3. He said he will represent all 20 million Californians, not just the 35 per cent who voted for him, and will run his office 12 hours a day.

Tunney said he favors a plan for the federal government to share part of its income tax revenues directly with local government. But it is unrealistic, he said, to expect any such plan to be enacted until the Vietnam war winds down.

The money being spent in Vietnam would be better spent relieving the local tax burden and meeting health, education and welfare needs at home, he said.

Tunney was described as "a great American, a great fighter" by Kenneth Hahn, Los Angeles County supervisor whom he defeated for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the June primary election.

"When it comes to serving the people, there can be no partisanship," he said in reference to the election battles.

About 200 of the state's 296 supervisors are attending the 76th convention of the County Supervisors Association of California.

SCHOOL TV PACT NOT RENEWED

RICHMOND — The Richmond Unified School District has refused to renew a $14,000 contract with educational television station KQED for classroom programs.

On a 3-2 vote at a meeting Thursday night, the board declared KQED showed "political bias" and had "vilified Richmond" in the past.

The decision to end the programming leaves 232 television sets bought for $42,354 over the past 10 years sitting idle in school classrooms.

Schools' Long-Hair Rule to Be Tested in Court

FRESNO — A squabble between two neatly-dressed but long-haired students and the Kingsburg School District over a dress code, threatens to result in a full dress trial that may determine the future of the district's dress and hair-length rules.

The father of one of the students, whose hair length just barely meets code standards, has initiated Superior Court action here seeking an injunction to compel the students back to school with their long flowing locks still unshorn.

"I'll work on this over the weekend," Judge Donald R. Franson said Friday. He took the injunction request under advisement.

WITNESSES said Don Medlin and James Lewis

Jr., both seniors, are well behaved. Faculty members testified neither has caused any "disruption" in classrooms because of their long hair.

The dress code stipulates young men's ears must be clearly visible and the hair not longer than the top of the collar of a dress shirt.

The two boys were suspended Oct. 2 for 10 days for refusing to conform to the code.

Vice Principal William Horstmann said if the boys returned without having their hair cut they would be suspended for an additional 10 days and then sent to a continuation school if they still refused.

"The state has said students must wear shoes to school as a sanitary measure," said Leland Sterling, psychology teacher. "The students see the good sense in that so they wear shoes. But they do not see the reason for hair length restrictions," he said.

Blayne Carpenter, an English instructor, said he thought the boys were merely stressing their individuality with their long hair.

An attorney whose hair just touched his jacket collar introduced into evidence newspaper pictures printed recently showing sixth United States President John Quincy Adams and his lineal descendant, a 20-year-old student at Harvard. Both had shoulder length locks.

THE ORIGINAL suit was brought by Medlin's father, Arthur, a Kingsburg area rancher.

"I think it is an infringement of my son's personal rights," he said.

"The school is presuming to tell him how to wear his hair the six hours a day he is there, but he is home or elsewhere on the other 18 hours a day. If his hair is cut, that's it. That's the way it stays. Clothes you can change after school but not hair," he added.

2 Folsom Demands Met, Warden Says

FOLSOM — Warden Walter Craven said Friday only two of 31 inmate demands sparking an abortive strike inside Folsom Prison apply "uniquely" to Folsom and both areas have recently been approved.

Craven said a team of outside doctors recently gave the institution's hospital "a clean bill of health" and said $65,000 was spent to improve visiting rooms.

Medical treatment and visiting facilities are two of 31 "manifesto" demands publicized Friday by picketers at the Capitol just a few miles west of Folsom Prison where more than 2,000 inmates Saturday began the ninth day of a general lockup called by Craven in response to the inmate strike.

"Peaceful" was Craven's assessment of the institution's mood.

Six young persons picketed the west steps of the Capitol Friday, handing out mimeographed copies of the 31 demands, most of which Craven said would require changes in state law.

The picketers bore signs, among them one reading: "Power To The Prisoners."

A week ago Thursday Craven called a general lockup after 300 inmates sought to strike their prison jobs at the Folsom inmate and license plate plants.

The lockup means instead of getting out to work and exercise, the inmates are kept in their cells, and instead of eating three times daily in a mess hall they are fed twice a day inside their cells.

Striking Police Get Ultimatum

HOLLISTER (UPI) — The City Council threatened Friday to discharge each striker who does not return to work on Hollister's 12-member police force.

The council, in a letter to the Policemen's Association, ordered the 10 men and two women back to work by midnight Friday if they want to be "reinstated without sanction."

The association was to consider the directive later Friday night.

"Members failing to report by midnight will be discharged with loss of all employee rights," the letter said. "The city has no alternative but to take immediate steps to replace officers not reporting."

SEVEN patrolmen, three sergeants and two matrons walked off their jobs Thursday night after asking for a 10 per cent hike in pay. The council granted them a 7½ per cent increase.

MEDIC SUES TO RETAIN ABORTIONS

SAN FRANCISCO — A prominent physician filed a federal lawsuit Friday asking that the 1967 California Therapeutic Abortion Act be declared unconstitutional.

Dr. Robert A. Major, 49, also asked in the U.S. District Court suit that his trial be halted in San Francisco Superior Court.

Major is charged with performing an illegal abortion and attempting to perform an illegal abortion.

The law he challenges permits abortions by licensed physicians in hospitals after a special committee finds that a continued pregnancy would gravely impair the physical or mental health of the woman, or that the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

MAJOR'S suit claims the law infringes upon privacy in the physician-patient relationship, deprives him of his right to practice medicine and deprives a woman of her right "to choose whether to bear children."

He says it also infringes on a woman's "right to life which is involved because childbirth involves risks of death."

Major was licensed to practice in Texas in 1942 and in California in 1956. He is a charter member of the American Academy of General Practice, a past president of the San Francisco Academy of General Practice and former editor of the California General Practice Journal.

REDISTRICTING BODY'S LEGALITY QUESTIONED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature's attorney warned Friday that any attempt to reapportion Assembly and Senate districts by a special commission probably would be struck down as unconstitutional in court.

In a formal opinion, Legislative Counsel George Murphy cast grave doubt over the constitutionality of a reapportionment commission to redistrict the state if the Legislature fails to do so next year.

The Democratic-dominated Legislature must redraw district boundaries next year based on the 1970 census. Gov. Ronald Reagan has threatened to veto any reapportionment measure to come out of either fair.

Some lawmakers believe the task then would be thrown to a reapportionment commission consisting of the attorney general, controller, secretary of state, lieutenant governor and superintendent of public instruction. All but two are Republicans.

Murphy said if the commission's reapportionment effort was challenged, the courts probably would neither uphold the commission's creation nor, as a consequence thereof, its attempt to reapportion either the Senate or the Assembly.

Federal Coverup on Environmental Studies Revealed

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration has quietly decided it can withhold environmental impact studies from the public until the decisions they influence have been made and announced.

Prominent conservationists, who thought they were legally entitled to see the studies well in advance of decision-making, learned of the opposite policy from a reporter — and it came as an unpleasant surprise.

A Sierra Club spokesman called it "a major setback in public participation in environmental planning."

Federal agencies are required by law to prepare and make public reports on the expected environmental impact of their proposals.

Under a decide-now-explain-later policy, however, environmental impact statements could easily degenerate into attempts to justify what an agency has already decided to do — a danger recognized by Russell E. Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, which reviews the statements.

"THERE IS NO QUESTION," Train acknowledged, "that there is a tendency to prepare a 'Section 102' (environmental impact) statement after a decision has been made. I won't say this is necessarily a common tendency, but it does occur . . ."

And even if it is done earlier, Train conceded, the statement could become a mere formality — "It doesn't necessarily mean there has been any reality at all to consideration of these factors."

Conservationists had thought, ever since the Environmental Policy Act of 1969 took effect 10 months ago, that its provision requiring public disclosure was meant to keep agencies on their toes by letting the public watch them in action.

Section 102 of that law requires that environmental impact reports "shall be made available to the President, the Council on Environmental Quality, and to the public . . . and shall accompany the proposal through the existing agency review processes."

SIERRA CLUB REPRESENTATIVE Robert Waldrup thought this meant that "the public is on a par with the council in the review of these."

Joseph W. Penfold, conservation director of the Isaac Walton League, thought its aim was to let the public "find out what an agency is working on . . . before a decision is made."

Sydney Howe, Conservation Foundation president, believed the statements were to be "public information when they are filed with the council," for the benefit of "any citizen who wants to play a role in decision-making."

Ford Raps 'Bad Guy' Pollution Approach

CHICAGO (UPI) — Henry Ford III said Friday the nation's press and politicians should help rid the public of the notion that "bad guys" are to blame for such national ills as air and water pollution.

Ford told a convention session of the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society that the "mor-alistic approach" should be eliminated for quicker understanding and solutions to problems of pollution, consumer protection, occupational safety and health regulations.

"We Americans seem to have a great tendency to jump immediately from symptoms to cures," Ford said.

GRATEFUL FOR OPEN WINDOW Policemen Paint Shop

Story and Photo
By DICK EMERY

"Grandma, who are those men painting the doughnut shop?"
"Hush, darling, they are policemen."
"But why are they painting the doughnut shop, Grandma?"
"Quiet, dear! They are the policemen who work nights around here."
"But, Grandma, why if they're policemen who work nights around here do they paint the doughnut shop?"
"Sh-h-h, darling, it's because they want to THANK the nice man who runs the shop and makes the doughnuts and the coffee and lets them have the window open . . ."
"WHAT window, Grandma?"
"The window of the doughnut shop open away late at night no matter how cold it is, or rainy, so they can hear the radio . . ."

"Grandma, WHAT radio?"
"The radio in their police car parked just outside at the curb, darling, which they must hear or else they can't have a cup of coffee in the middle of the night no matter how awful the traffic wreck was they just cleared up."
"But who DOES run the shop, Grandma, and make the coffee and all the doughnuts, and let the policemen keep the window open so they can hear the police radios in their cars while they're having coffee in the middle of the night?"
"Hush, dear. It's a man named Laddie who has run the shop here on Pacific Coast Highway in Wilmington for years and years, but that's just his nickname and . . ."
"Grandma, what's a nickname?"
"Open wide, dear, and take a GREAT BIG BITE of this dandy frosted doughnut and don't ask Grandma any more questions. Grandma is getting tired, darling!"

SMALL SHIFTS IN ELEVATION

L.B. Subsidence Insignificant

The quarterly subsidence report for the period ending in August shows the area which might be affected by oil production to be "essentially stable," City Manager John R. Mansell said Friday.
Small gains and losses of elevation, amounting to less than an inch, are "not considered significant" in such a quarterly report, Mansell said.
"Studies of area elevation changes over long intervals indicated that elevation losses of about one-half inch per year are not related," the city manager said.
Temporary elevation fluctuations caused by variations in water-flooding operations occasionally act in concert with regional subsidence to give "an erroneous short-term impression," he pointed out.
The Department of Oil Properties said that during the period from August of 1969 through August of this year, elevation gains were recorded along an axis from Piers A and J north to Anaheim Street.
The maximum gain along this axis was about one-half inch, in the vicinity of the Armed Services YMCA and near the end of Pier J, the report said.
Small losses of elevation were recorded on both sides of this axis. The maximum loss was 1.2 inches in the vicinity of Island Chaffee and northeast across the Seal Beach oil field.
"This area had a history of subsidence prior to offshore oil development," the department report pointed out.

The audit shows that student body monies, amounting to $731,706 in cash assets and $20,834 in fixed assets, are being used in accord with announced intentions, William G. Pollock, A.S. administrator said.
The budget for the college's student body for 1970-71, he added, is $357,000.

STUDENT BODY IN GOOD FISCAL SHAPE

An auditor's report completed this week, shows the Associated Students of California State College at Fullerton to be in sound financial condition, a student government official said.

The budget for the college's student body for 1970-71, he added, is $357,000.

Thieves' Haul Valued at $1,160

Raymond M. Gansko, 434 Lakewood Blvd., told Long Beach police Friday burglars forced open the front door at his home and took a neck stole, a TV set, and guns. He valued the total loot at $1,160.

New Oil Price Seen as Bonanza to City

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

The 25-cents-a-barrel increase which Atlantic Richfield Co. said it will pay for crude oil should have "a substantial effect" on Long Beach oil income, city oil experts said Friday.

Leonard W. Brock, director of the Department of Oil Properties, said his office is computing the potential increase in income to the city and state if other major companies follow the lead Atlantic Richfield announced Thursday.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

SALESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1970 $1.00 Page 8
MARKETS ON PAGES 6 & 7

City officials said they expect other major oil firms will boost the price of crude oil by 25 cents a barrel.

Production from the Long Beach unit of the Midland oil field currently is averaging between 121,000 and 123,500 barrels a day, a department spokesman said.

Since production first was started by Transocean Long Beach Co., the Midland oil field here has produced more than 154 million barrels, the department said.

The department said the price increase also would have the effect of expanding the economic life of all secondary recovery wells.

Last week, the City Council adopted a resolution urging major oil companies to "institute and recognize a substantial increase in the posted price of locally produced crude oil."

The resolution said the local price of crude has been maintained at a level far below that set for other domestically produced crude oil, and even below that of foreign crude oil.

5 Indians Will Talk at CSLB

Five members of the embattled Pit River Indian tribe, which last summer squared off with federal marshals in Northern California's Lassen National Park over a treaty dispute, will discuss their situation Monday at California State College at Long Beach.

Members of the public, as well as students are invited to the discussion by tribal representatives — including one man who was arrested in the dispute — in lecture hall 150 at noon, college spokesmen said.

The Indians, ousted from Lassen Volcanic National Park, later occupied the Pacific Service Employees Association campground at Big Bend from which they were evicted. Several members of the tribe were arrested.

The tribe's leaders claim the national park and the Big Bend land are part of a 3,386,000 parcel of territory for which titles were never secured by present holders from the Pit River Indians.

ABSENTEE VOTES

Recall Ballots at City Hall

Absentee ballots for the Dec. 15 special recall election will be available at the city clerk's office in City Hall, starting Monday.

Any voter who will be out of the city on Dec. 15, or who will be unable to go to the polls because of illness or disability, may vote by absentee ballot.

City Clerk Margaret L.

Cypress Seeks Kin of POW

Cypress City Council has asked persons living in the city with relatives being held prisoner in Vietnam to contact the city manager's office.

Councilmen said they are preparing to write letters to the government of North Vietnam requesting that prisoners be released, and would like to include the names of all those from Cypress.

Moore said voters may request an absentee ballot by writing or by coming into the office. The request must be made by the individual voter.

If requesting an absentee ballot by letter, voters must sign their name as it appears on the affidavit of registration and must give the address at which they are registered. They should also indicate where they want the absentee ballot sent.

If a husband and wife request absentee ballots, Mrs. Moore emphasized, both must sign their names to the letter.

Voters who come in to the city clerk's office may cast their absentee ballot at that time, she said.

Deuk Due at CSLB Banquet

State Sen. George Deukmejian will address the annual scholarship banquet of the California State College at Long Beach Alumni Association Thursday in the International City Room at 6:30 p.m. according to college alumni relations officials.

President Stephen Horn also will speak at the banquet to area residents and representatives of the campus community at the event, scheduled as part of the college's Fall Festival.

Miss CSCSB and her court will be presented at the banquet.

Tickets to the dinner are available through the college alumni office, said Ross Nicholson, Los Alamitos, chairman of the banquet committee.

NEW CULPRIT FOR ANEMIA

By BEA ZINZER
Medical-Science Editor

The antibiotic chloramphenicol is being unfairly blamed for some cases of a deadly blood disorder known as aplastic anemia, a medical authority said in Long Beach Friday.

Instead, the culprit may have been the liver ailment called infectious hepatitis, said Dr. Joseph W. St. Geme Jr., chief of the department of pediatrics at Harbor General Hospital.

Dr. St. Geme, who also is a professor of pediatrics at UCLA medical school, spoke to doctors at St. Mary's Hospital on the topic of "What's New with Viral Hepatitis."

He said that various profound blood disorders, including aplastic anemia, which can be fatal, sometimes show up in persons who recently have suffered a bout of infectious hepatitis.

CONSEQUENTLY, CHLORAMPHENICOL is sometimes being wrongly maligned "because doctors are using the drug more selectively than they once did."
The antibiotic has frequently been linked with causing aplastic anemia.

Another new development, he said, is the finding that serum hepatitis can be acquired by means other than blood transfusion or contaminated needles.

Serum hepatitis can also be conveyed by the "oral or respiratory route," which may account for the high incidence of liver infection among institutionalized patients with Down's syndrome (mongolism).

Another clue is the presence of a virus-like particle called Australia antigen in the blood of victims of Down's. The particle is also seen in some patients with serum hepatitis, and it is far more likely to be seen in this liver disorder than in the infectious type of hepatitis.

IT STILL APPEARS that infectious hepatitis and serum hepatitis are caused by two distinct viruses, Dr. St. Geme said. However, in terms of how the diseases affect the patient, the two types are quite similar.

Customarily, infectious hepatitis arises from direct contact with the waste products of an infected person or by the use of contaminated food or water. Reported cases in California have doubled since 1962, the California Medical Association reports. Serum hepatitis, up 28 percent since 1962, is mainly caused by use of contaminated needles or transfusion of infected blood.

Dr. St. Geme disclosed that personnel who operate artificial kidney, or dialysis, centers are at high risk to contract hepatitis.

Chamber President to Get L.B. Anti-Defamation Award

Ray L. Anderson, Douglas Aircraft executive and president of Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will receive the 1970 award of the Fifth Anti-Defamation League award for "concern for the welfare of his fellowman and for his community leadership" at an ADL banquet Dec. 15.

The event in Edgewater Hyatt House will also honor Harry Albert, former county civil service commissioner and member of the ADL regional board, with a special tribute to his many years of service.

The $25-a-course banquet is called the highlight of the annual ADL Society of Fellows local campaign in behalf of the league's national appeal for funds.

'COME ON! IT WON'T HURT TO ASK! WHEN YOU'RE LOOKIN' AT CARS THEY LET YA TAKE 'EM OUT AND TRY 'EM!'

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Your coming year is fairly quiet, with a healthy amount of moderate competition and mental stimulus. Your year of life changes, and you may become less dependent on other people. There is much to accomplish, new things to learn, a switch of habits, to fit the changing environment. Today's natives are usually proud and ambitious, rather fortunate in accumulating wealth.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): This Sunday offers more mental activity than physical. Yesterday's usage of energy makes this seem duller than it is. Consideration of others' needs adds to your results.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Join in the Sunday customs of your neighborhood. Get acquainted with your neighbors. Tomorrow, you will have a good time. You will be in good luck.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Don't tell your definite plans, as circumstances are somewhat unsettled. Mark time by waiting somewhere you had not planned. Be prepared to enjoy life wherever you are.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Take part in your community's expression of faith. Then enjoy a quiet time by your favorite hobbies. Rather a low key for some lively conversation.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 10): Something will not help your public image, rather the contrary. Be formal, impersonal. Leave the center of the stage to others. Some is the place to be this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 21-Sept. 20): You are subject to distraction, not having done the experiences of the past weeks. Ancestral is a let-down. Let business questions wait.

LIBRA (Sept. 21-Oct. 20): Stay with your regular Sunday routine; give yourself a rest. There probably are too many things going on you can't keep track of to make your own. Patience is needed to keep your home peaceful.

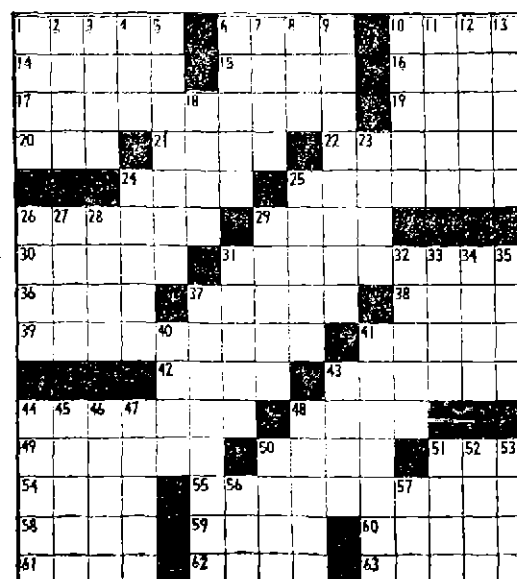

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 21-Dec. 20): Special events are unlikely to fulfill your expectations. Don't try to pull the party apart to make your own. Patience is needed to keep your home peaceful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 21-Jan. 19): You can have a colorful Sunday if you will put limits on self-expression, and carefully avoid those strangers and certain intimates. The evening is for serious study.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): All things in moderation apply to this quietly balanced Sunday. Keep it balanced. Instead of striving to have your views prevail, meditation is in order.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Today it seems you must compromise, although the situation is not your responsibility. Wait for others to come to the same realization. Your turn comes later.

RABBI BLESSES GROUP'S RUMP SERVICE

'Temple Within' Seeks More Personal Worship Experience

By LES RODNEY

An anti-institution "Temple Within," a group of people planning and carrying out their own worship experiences, is taking shape at a Long Beach synagogue -- with the support of, and to the delight of, the institution's leader, the rabbi.

The experiment was launched during the High Holy Days, Judaism's most sacred period, with 80 members of Temple Israel, ranging from teens through retirement age, meeting in the social hall while the congregation held its regular large service.

The "temple within" is not seen by its participants as a "now" attempt at "relevance" departing from the rich heritage and continuity of Jewish lore. Rather, explains Gordon Cohn, one of its moving spirits, it is an attempt to recapture in modern form the true community of the original synagogue, deepening the religious experience by making it personal.

IN THIS quest it bears some resemblance to the growth of the controversial "Home Masses" among Roman Catholics, and "underground church" groups led by dissident Protestants.

Temple Israel's group may be unique in that it remains within the walls of its own local "institution," and has the blessing of the institution's spiritual leader.

Cohn, who is director of health sciences development at USC, and a member of the temple board, earlier this year attended a four-day get together called by a Chicago temple which invited other innovative reform temples to chew over means of getting more member involvement.

"There were six temples represented at the meeting," he says. "The main idea was to get away from the pulpit versus pews concept, to get more members really involved in study and worship affairs, to make it more of a forum than a passive listening to sermons and responsive readings."

The way the synagogue historically came into being, he notes, "was when some guy came in to discuss Scripture, the Sacred Writ, and life..."

BACK AT the Long Beach temple, Cohn found an immediate response from 20 families and the baby was born.

"Maybe the name of Temple Within that we came up with isn't too good, but it's something. We were 20 families dissatisfied with reading from ritualized texts from the Union of Hebrew Congregations Prayerbook, the same every week. We decided we would rather meet in small assembly, with creative sharing. We could assemble our service from literature, or write our own, or a combination of both, that which has meaning on a given night to one or more of us. Music would be anything that fit."

"Instead of a sermon, we might go around the room within that framework and ask what it is in your judgment that gives meaning to your life. It is open, there are interspersed reactions and exchanges. Like somebody might interrupt with 'how can you say this in 1970 in light of Vietnam?'"

Temple Israel is a member of the Reform wing of Judaism, strongest in this country. Reform Jews have broken with some of the Orthodox rituals, including the wearing of hats in the synagogue, separation of men and women, and the keeping apart of meat and dairy dishes. Under the leadership of Rabbi Wolfi Kaelter, Temple Israel has taken the lead in having young people occasionally create their own special contributions to the life of the temple.

As in some experimental Protestant churches, youth-run services have been received with mixed feelings. The more traditional services continue at the regular times. It is Cohn's opinion that the usual ritualized form of worship, even in the Reform temples, while valid for those who prefer it, will not succeed in attracting new generations of inquisitive young people.

"We can't get to the kids that way," he says. "I look at my 12 year old boy. He's not a rebel of any kind yet, but I know he's not going to come in to the synagogue to lead from the Union prayerbook every week, that's not going to do anything for him. We're going to have to pull into the temple the world these kids live in."

Not the least of the aims of the smaller, less structured service is a deepening of one's understanding of Judaism, in Cohn's view.

"So many Jews," he says, "know little or nothing of the monumental wealth of talmudic literature. How many know the response of their faith to the great questions of their lives, to death, to morality. We envisage an involvement in common study, a way to challenge others, to make them ask 'How come for God, and for our own individual relations. It was spontaneous, and very moving, as it went around and each one said a little something..."

During the summer, some Cal State Long Beach students sat in with the group during one exploratory session on folding chairs and said it was exactly what they wanted, Cohn related.

"I do have a fear," he said, "that some young people might want to move too radically on this, that is, they may be concerned only with today and not care about Isaiah."

But the Temple Within is happening. Embryonic and groping, and with a long way to go, but happening. Others are getting curious. "Can I just look in and watch?" some temple members have asked.

The "extended family," as Cohn likes to think of the group, must not in turn grow to a size of diminishing returns. Go thou and do likewise, is the advice the group offers.

Members of the Temple Within will for one or another occasion that interests or concerns them join the regular Friday night and Saturday observances. Nor will they attempt a weekly service of their own at this juncture.

"We plan 16 services in the next eight months," Cohn says. "We don't want to fall into the same trap (Continued Page B-4, Col. 1)

UNUSUAL EFFECTIVE...

That's what the Dallas Times said about evangelist Jerry B. Walker, who will hold revival services from Sunday through Nov. 29th at Calvary Light Assembly, 2094 Cherry Ave., Sundays at 7 p.m. and weeknights at 7:30, with no Saturday services. Rev. Walker, whose songs are called inspirational, has been likened in style to Billy Sunday.

Churchman Hits Black Powerites

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) -- The international bishop of the predominantly Negro Church of God in Christ last week took a slap at traditional advocates of black power.

Rev. J. O. Patterson, international bishop of the church, told 14,000 delegates to its 63rd annual convocation that black power means more "than a clenched fist, knotted-up hair and a shaking body."

Patterson cited the work of the church in providing food and clothing for the poor as examples of real black power.

"What have you black power boys done?" he asked.

Dr. Booth Will Leave L.B. Unitarian Church Pulpit

Rev. Dr. John Booth's Booth, pastor at Long Beach Unitarian Church for the past seven years, will resign from the local pulpit effective January 1st. It was confirmed this week.

Dr. Booth, whose position in support of the Arab case in the Middle East has endeared him in controversy, will continue to reside here with his family. He told the Independent Press-Telegram, at least for the time being. His plans call for a program of writing, speaking and guest pulpit appearances in all parts of the land, he said.

"I just feel I can be more effective through a change in my ministry at this time," he stated.

Dr. Booth came to the church at 5450 Alhambra Ave. from the pastorate of historic Second Church of Boston, where Ralph Waldo Emerson preached. Prior to that, in Chicago in the late 1940s he was the nation's first minister with his own regularly scheduled television program. He has authored seven books, including "Quest for Preaching Power," used in several seminaries, and a Travel Book Club selection "Fabulous Destinations." His first-hand articles on travel and mountain climbing have appeared in the I. P.T.

In 1948 he was co-founder of the Japan Free Religion Association, the Unitarian-Universalist arm in that country.

Dr. Booth was president of the Mental Health Association of Long Beach, played a leading role in the establishment of the Clergy Counseling Service for therapeutic abortions, and was active on the advisory committee of the Fair Housing Foundation in its founding years.

His sermons on the case for the Arabs and in opposition to the State of Israel have been widely reprinted and disseminated.

Following Dr. Booth's departure, the local Unitarian Church, founded in 1913, will have an interim ministry while its pulpit committee acts on selecting a candidate to offer to the congregation for approval.

"MAY I HAVE A MOMENT OF YOUR TIME?"
Said a certain business man, "I believe in the church, but I am getting tired of all this talk about reaching and ushering and giving and serving." His business took him to a far away land and there, one day, he saw a boy pulling a plow, an old, old man walking between the handles of the plow, guiding it.
The business man asked a missionary about this, and the missionary replied, "We were building our little church and this family was eager to give something, but had no money. They did have an ox, so they sold the ox and gave the proceeds to the church, which is why you saw the old man and his young boy doing the work of an animal."

AUDITORIUM WILL HOST PACIFIC CHRISTIAN MEET

Municipal Auditorium Wednesday night will be the scene of the climactic meeting of the Southland's annual Pacific Christian Convention, which will be held in seven cities starting Sunday.

Sponsored by Pacific Christian College of Long Beach, the convention, in its 15th year, acts as the focal point for those who belong to churches known simply as Christian, without denominational organization or affiliation, explains G.B. Gordon, college executive. Without any headquarters, the group numbers 1,500,000 nationally by informal count.

Bakersfield, Eureka, Anaheim, Riverside, Long Beach and Glendale will be the other regional sites in addition to Long Beach.

Dr. Medford H. Jones, in his second year at the growing local college, says:

"This convention provides an activity in which church members belonging to independent congregations throughout California, Arizona and Nevada can gain a sense of growth and fellowship with other congregations similarly organized."

The college has programmed youth sessions in each city, and sermons by Myron J. Taylor, minister of Westwood Hills Christian Church, Los Angeles, and Jack Ballard, minister of Mt. Carmel Church in Decatur, Ga., near Atlanta, largest Christian church in the nation.

The Municipal Auditorium rally, with the public invited, will feature music by the New Sounds, the David Lloyd Singers, the college choir, and the traditional great combined Southern California Churches Choir, directed by Prof. Roger Kornier. The evening begins at 7:30. Nursery care will be available.

St. Matthew's 50th, 38 for Msgr. Lynch

It's Golden Jubilee time for St. Matthew's Catholic Church. The church will celebrate 50 years of service in Long Beach next Friday, Nov. 20 with a Concelebrated Mass at 5 p.m. honoring those alumni of the school who are now priests. At 7:30 that night there will be a gala banquet at the Elks Club.

Celebrated along with the birth and growth of the well known parish and school will be the pastorate of Rt. Rev. James P. Lynch, who was appointed on Nov. 17, 1932. Msgr. Lynch's 38 years puts him high on the list of Southland pastors for longevity of service in a parish.

"I was appointed by Bishop John J. Cantwell," the monsignor says, "and through the mercy and goodness of God, the patience, tolerance and generous support of a wonderful people, I am still here."

It was November, 1920 when the decision was made to establish an ecclesiastical jurisdiction for all the area east of Cherry Avenue. The first pastor, Rev. Thomas B. Morris, celebrated the first public Mass before a month was out in the home of the Brightmans at Temple and Broadway. The following February Mass was said in a wooden chapel hastily erected where the cafeteria now stands. First unit of the school was opened in September of that same year, 1921.

Rev. Thomas O'Sullivan succeeded Father Morris in 1929, and was pastor for three years until Msgr. Lynch arrived. The earthquake in March of 1933 almost destroyed the existing buildings. But they were rebuilt, renovated, and the new church completed before the year was out.

St. Matthew's was the home of one of Long Beach's earliest Boy Scout troops.

"We would not think it fitting," Msgr. Lynch says of the anniversary, "to leave unhonored the many priests, sisters and parishioners, both living and deceased, who have labored and sacrificed so unselfishly during the past half century in this part of the Vineyard of the Lord."

Israel Will Pay Lutheran Claim

GENEVA (LWP) — The State of Israel has agreed to pay compensation for damage caused to the Lutheran World Federation-owned Augusta Victoria Hospital during the June 1967 War. Discussions between the LWF and Israel have been underway for some time concerning damage to the more than 60-year-old structure on the Mount of Olives.

Application for compensation was made by the LWF following the announcement of the Israel Government stating that it would make such payments "to religious organizations for damages to their property regardless of the military forces by whom the damage was caused."

WORLD VISION PIONEER HERE

Rev. Spencer De Jong, West Coast director for World Vision International, and former founding director of the World Home Bible League, will speak Sunday, 11 a.m. in Immanuel Baptist Church, 3215 E. Third St. He was instrumental in establishing the Japan and India Home Bible Leagues as well as the first distribution of Spanish New Testaments. He also witnessed the current Christian revival in Indonesia.

Gospel Music Special Set

Attention around here now is being focused upon a Christian Christmas, paganism and commercialism are for too evident in the Christian community. We are victims of satanic attempts to divert attention from Christ in every phase of life.

Our good people are attempting to give $20,000 for missions as a Christmas gift to Christ on his birthday. Nearly over $3,000 of this amount has come in. Even the smallest child is bringing a gift to the King. What a joy to celebrate His birthday in this manner.

Attendance for Sunday School for the last six Sundays has averaged 1318, with high attendance of 1529 and a low attendance of 1217. Wouldn't you like to attend a church like this? Try it this Sunday. You will receive a blessing. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

Cool Emotions Help in Crises

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

An American destroyer lay at anchor in Wonsan harbor. It was during the Korean conflict. The night was clear, moonlit, and very still. The quartermaster, making a routine check of the ship, suddenly stopped stock-still. For he saw a big black object floating not far off. Aghast, he realized that it was a floating contact mine broken loose from a mine field. It was slowly drifting, with the ebbing tide, toward midship.

Grabbing the intercom, the quartermaster summoned the duty officer, who came dashing to the scene with the captain. Immediately a general alarm was sounded. The entire ship went into action.

In consternation officers and men stared at the slowly approaching mine. Feverishly the situation was appraised. Disaster hung trembling in the balance.

VARIOUS SUGGESTIONS were rapidly put forward by the officers. What should they do? Up anchor? No, there wasn't enough time. Start the engines and shift the position of the ship? No, that wouldn't work, for the propeller wash would only suck the mine more rapidly inward. Could the mine be exploded with gunfire? No, it was too close to the ship's magazine. What then should be done? Launch a boat and push it away with long poles? This wouldn't work for it was a contact mine and there was no time to disarm it.

Tragedy stared the crew in the face. All seemed helpless in the situation. But suddenly an ordinary seaman outthought all his superior officers. "Get the fire hoses," he shouted. A stream of water was played into the sea between the mine and the ship, creating a current that carried the mine into waters where it could be exploded by gunfire.

Quite a man, this ordinary seaman. Certainly he did not act nervous or apprehensive. Why? Well, perhaps he had an inner mental quietness. That must have been so, for he was able to think in a crisis whereas all others were baffled. He got an idea that saved the ship. He did not emotionalize. His mind remained cool. And only a cool mind can think. A hot mind reacts rather than thinks. He thought and the answer came.

Wonder if we wouldn't get further today in current social problems if fewer people emotionalized and more people thought rationally.

It seems that the lives of many people these days are fractured and hated inwardly. Inner peace is needed to counteract the pressures of contemporary living, not as escapism but to organize personalities for creative action. Energy always comes from a calm center.

A MOST effective mental relaxing agent is a therapeutic thought "dropped" into an agitated mind. If you have never tried this technique, you'll be surprised at how it clarifies and energizes. One such thought that can be memorized and repeated when you become up-tight is this one: "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength" (Isaiah 30:15). Dr. Paul DuBois, famous Swiss psychotherapist, used to prescribe the "therapy of words." Patients were instructed to repeat peace-filled statements. And many got a new grip on active life participation.

Each problem in life consists of challenge and contains solutions. There is no reason for missing good solutions to problems. Quick, creative, imaginative thinking can be yours, and like the young seaman, you can develop inner calmness and maintain constant emotional control. Cool it and you can handle it.

THEOLOGIAN IN LECTURE SERIES

BRIEFLY...

Msgr. Lynch's Shaky Start; Pentecost Delegates Report

It took the 50th anniversary celebration at St. Matthew's to start one calculating and realizing that Msgr. James P. Lynch has been pastor there for 38 years. That's right. It was 1926, a few weeks after FDR defeated President Hoover at the polls, when Father Lynch began his good work at Temple near Seventh. Which ought to make him the man of God with the longest continuous service at one church hereabouts. Any challengers?

Four months after he took over, the young priest must have wondered what he had done wrong when the parsonage and school building, which doubled as the church then, began weaving and like to come completely apart. It was the great quake, shaking up the just and unjust alike. The folks at St. Matthews not only repaired the damage before 1933 was out, but built a brand new church just to show who was boss!

Congratulations to St. Matthews' and the monsignor on this happy occasion.

The local group included Rev. Gerald Reed, the pastor, and members Johnny Rushing, Manuel Vargas and Bill Bledsoe. They were enthusiastic about the message of David Wilkerson, of "Cross and Switchblade" fame, who said the Spirit moving among young people would save many from drugs and crime. Wilkerson obviously didn't mean to sit back in satisfaction and watch that happen. He has worked very hard and with many frustrations in trying to make it happen to at least a few he contacted.

We received no releases or stories of any kind from Dallas, and knowing that the Pentecostals do want their achievements known, we would suggest a look into modern press relations, with some hard news on what is going on in various countries.

WHEN MORE than 200 bishops attend the semi-annual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops in Washington starting Monday, one of the proposals on the agenda will be authorizing Catholic membership in the Faith and Order Commission of the National Council of Churches.

Historic as this would be, perhaps more controversial is a proposal to ask the Holy See to authorize introduction in this country, on an optional basis, of the practice of receiving Holy Communion in the hand, rather than having the consecrated bread placed on the tongue. The option is already in effect in Canada and several European countries. Children are fed, adults feed themselves," argue proponents of the change.

Dedicate New L.B. Church Sunday

CHILD-TEACHING LECTURE SLATED

The second in a special, four-session course dealing with ways in which parents can become more effective in helping their children learn, will be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday, in Memorial Hospital's cafeteria.

The chairman of the art department at California State College at Long Beach has been awarded a $1,500 grant to create a course in the future of art museums in American culture.

museums of America are being attacked as preserves of special interests," Krause said.

Dr. Joseph Krause received the grant from the National Foundation on the Arts to develop the class, to be entitled "Art and the Museum."

To begin in the spring semester as a three-unit lecture-discussion course under the instruction of Thomas Garver, the class will be "fully supported" by the grant.

GARVER, director of the Newport Harbor Art Museum for the past two years, previously taught a summer art course at Cal State Long Beach. He also served as assistant director of the Rose Art Museum at Brandeis University.

"Art and the Museum" drew the National Foundation of the Arts grant as a result of a speech made last year by Krause to the Western Association of Art Museums.

"We hope to help the museum achieve greater significance to the community at a time when the

Piston Reserves No Match for Laker Regulars

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

Detroit coach Bill Van Breda Kolff says he will live or die with his platoon system, and Friday night he was gunned to death by the Lakers, 122-109, at the Forum.

The Laker lead was a scant two points to open the final period and Van Breda Kolff sent in four reserves. Only one, Terry Driscoll, did anything right as the Lakers drew away to their second win in three nights over the Pistons.

The victory, achieved before 15,482 fans after they fell behind 13-3 in the opening minutes, was the seventh in the last eight games for the Pacific Conference leaders.

After a dismal first half, Jerry West scored 28 points to deadheat Gail Goodrich, who continues to hold a hot hand. Between them, the pair poured in 23 of 37 shots, including nine in succession to launch the third period.

Wilt Chamberlain, who has no love for Van Breda Kolff, played a domineering role, blocking eight shots, challenging the long-range shooters and finding time for 24 points and 18 rebounds.

Rick Roberson, with a sensational 10-point second period, and Happy Hairston, with a 17-point night, also toiled well as the Lakers continued to show balance in their offense and a deep bench.

Dave Bing led Detroit with 20 points although he was benched the final six minutes in a peculiar move. The clever guard almost destroyed the Lakers Wednesday night with 35 points.

Bing was the only regular to start the fourth quarter as Van Breda Kolff went with Driscoll, Butch Kovich, Bob Quick and Bob Lanier. This group outscored the Lakers 32-25 in the second period.

Driscoll had 12 points in the final stanza, but Lanier and Quick each missed five shots as the team shot a miserable 8 for 26 while also committing seven ball-control errors.

Both Otto Moore and Terry Dischinger, the starters, gave the Lakers trouble in the first and third periods, but neither played in the second and fourth quarters.

The Pistons won their first nine games but have lost four of the last seven. Still, Van Breda Kolff has no plans to ditch his unique system.

To theorize that he will have fresher athletes in the dog days of the season, and Detroit figures to be in a hot battle with Chicago for the runner up spot behind Milwaukee in the Midwest Conference.

The Lakers should have no trouble in their division, but coach Joe Mullaney may have a problem deploying his troops.

Roberson has earned more time at forward and so has rookie Jim McMillan whose defense is outstanding. Hairston has been steady at the corner but not Keith Erickson.

Where the Lakers may need help is at the No. 3 guard. Willie McCarter is 3-for-21 in the last five games and Mullaney may have to use Erickson behind West and Goodrich.

Elgin Baylor is due back one of these days and he'll have to play somewhere.

Mullaney is content at the present time with the way his team has played. He says it is better now than it was at this time a year ago. The parts in the model better, he claims.

The soft-spoken coach drew only the third technical foul of his career (pro and college) in the third period, moments after Van Breda Kolff was hit with his 10th in 16 games this season.

"Van Breda Kolff jumped up and pointed the finger at me," laughed Mullaney. "or I don't think the official would have

CIF BID FOR LAKEWOOD?

Revived Lancers Bounce Wilson

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

Remember the Lakewood High team that beat Westminster in its season opener and was promptly ranked as the CIF's No. 1 team?

Nine weeks and three defeats later the Lancers again showed some of that form to convincingly subdue a good Wilson team, 28-6, Friday night in a Moore League finale for both schools at Veterans Stadium.

Whether the Lancers' late season surge that saw them win four games in a row will be enough to secure a CIF playoff spot won't be known until Sunday when playoff pairings are determined.

A turnout of 13,500 watched Lakewood spoil the Bruins' 43rd homecoming.

Old familiars Mike Owens, Rick Gillies and Pete

Tereschuk did most of the damage on offense.

Owens scored three times on runs of 23, 16 and 8 yards. Tereschuk and Gillies combined on an 83-yard scoring play in the fourth quarter that KO'd whatever comeback hopes the Bruins may have had.

Wilson didn't get on the scoreboard until it was 28-0 after being bottled up by a quick Lakewood defense.

Wilson has a long history of being able to move the ball and score, but all it has to show against Lakewood the last three years is 14 points and three losses.

The Lancers, getting superlative play on defense from Chuck Bolt, Richard Frederick, Jim Wilkins, Joe Willis and John Scofield, limited Wilson to 164 net yards — only 39 coming in the first 24 minutes.

League-leading rusher Bill Cecil was held to 43 yards on 18 attempts and quarterback Jerry Summerfield managed only three completions in nine attempts for five yards in the first half.

A Tereschuk to Gillies pass for 20 yards put Lakewood in business on the Bruin 29 the second time it had the ball.

Two plays later, from the 23, Owens scored. He ran into his own blocker at the 15, slumbled twice and still managed to get across the goal line with 7:18 re-

Wilson's one big chance to get back in the game came moments later when Owens fumbled at the Lancer 42.

In eight plays the Bruins were on the 13 with fourth down and three yards to go. Cecil tried a sweep but Gary Brewsbaugh broke through to throw him for a yard loss.

The next time Wilson got that close it was 21-0.

Tereschuk promptly combined with seldom-used Dan Garcia for 61 yards on a sideline pattern play to put Lakewood on the Wilson 30.

Trevino, the defending individual champion, was visibly shaken after he went one over par with a 73 and hurt the United States' chances of repeating. Trevino's score gave him a 143 and his partner, Dage Stockton, also had 73 for 140 that ballooned the U.S. to 283 and dropped it to fourth place in team standings.

A crowd of thousands at the 6,700-yard Jockey Club Course cheered wildly as home favorite Roberto de Vicenzo kept the individual lead with a 67 Friday and 131 total.

Henrik Lund of Denmark, moved behind Devlin in the individual scoring race with a 69 Friday for an eight-under-par 136 that helped give his team third place with 282.

Japan and France were tied for fifth in team scoring at 285, followed by the Philippines at 286 and England and Wales at 287.

Trevino stalked off the course without signing autographs and left the clubhouse immediately, while Stockton, who also had a 73 but was five under par overall, remained behind to practice putting.

"I don't think I'm putting badly," Trevino said. "I don't think I'm playing badly. I'm a guest in this country so I better not say what I really think."

Trevino has had trouble on the greens, which he and other players have described as bumpy and poorly maintained.

RABBITS' WORST MOORE CAMPAIGN ENDS

'Lukewarm' Millikan Nods Poly, 13-10

By GARY ELLIS

Millikan High, hot and cold all season, played lukewarm Friday night and handed Poly High its worst Moore League finish in history and its worst over-all finish in more than 20 years, beating the Rabbits, 13-10.

The Rams, plagued all year by injuries, scored on an 87-yard punt return by Steve Jones, a one-yard plunge by fullback Steve Fleischmann after a fumble recovery on the Rabbits' 10, and handed Poly two points with 1:28 left in the game when Rick Evans ran 18 yards into his own end zone.

Gambling all night, the Rams could never sustain a drive. They tried a fake field goal, tried to run over Poly, and finally set up the safety to hand the Rabbits their final two points.

The game was hard-hitting Charlie Marino, who gained 72 yards on 20 carries, was knocked out in the second quarter. Quarterback Evans suffered a mild concussion in the third quarter but returned to action on the next set of offensive downs.

For Poly, it ended a year of total frustration. The Jackrabbits won only one game all year — their second contest against Westminster. It marked the first time since the beginning of the Moore League that the Rabbits were without a league victory.

But the Rabbits had a chance to win the contest with less than five minutes remaining.

Leading 13-8, Millikan had a pass intercepted by John Cofield on the Poly 24. James Warren gained 16 yards on a flanker reverse and Millikan was guilty of a personal foul. Then Leo Giles, who gained 48 yards on 18 carries, ran for 16, fumbled, but the ball rolled out of bounds.

Kenny Washington, who had completed only one pass in 14 attempts — a 20-yard TD — going into the fourth quarter, hit Marty Patterson for 12 yards to the Ram 22.

Two plays later the Rams were detected for pass interference and the Rabbits had the ball first-and-goal on the six Giles gained one and Washington recovered his fumble but lost six. On fourth down a goal line pass was incomplete.

Late in the first quarter, after Millikan moved to the Rabbit 15 and attempted a fake field goal which gained only seven yards, Mark Emery recovered a Rabbit fumble. Marino gained eight yards in two carries setting up Fleischmann's score.

Washington punted to the Ram 13 and Rick Hamblin caught the ball and started to his right. Millikan formed a perfect wall and Hamblin handed off to Jones, going to his left, who electrified the crowd of 5,000 with an 87-yard scamper for a 13-0 second quarter lead.

On a fourth-and-six with 37 seconds remaining in the first half, Washington, 0-for-7, hurled a 30-yard scoring strike to Patterson, who was five yards behind the nearest Millikan defender. Washington passed to Patterson for the two-point conversion.

Roses for Northwestern? Unlikely, but Possible

Combined News Services
Northwestern in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1? Unlikely, but not impossible.
The Wildcats, who made their only Rose Bowl appearance 21 years ago with a 20-14 victory over California, have only a 4-4 over-all record. But in the Big Ten they're 4-1 and can still finish in a tie with Ohio State for second.
Since Michigan cannot return to Pasadena, it would be between the Wildcats and Buckeyes for the bid — should Ohio State lose.

Northwestern is a 14-point choice to make Indiana its fifth Big Ten victim today while Ohio State tackles Purdue in a televised encounter (10:30 a.m., Channel 7).
Ohio State, after its meeting today with the Boilermakers, runs into Michigan next week for the Big Ten title. The Bucks (7-0) are 18-point favorites over Purdue (3-5) while Michigan (8-0) is favored by 21 points over Iowa (2-5-1) today.

Also a whopping favorite is No. 1 rated Notre Dame. The Irish are picked by 24 over Georgia Tech although the Engineers have lost only twice in nine starts.
Notre Dame is assured of a bid to either the Orange Bowl or the Cotton Bowl. But unless the Irish soundly rock Georgia Tech their No. 1 ranking in both the wire service polls will be in jeopardy. Unbeaten Ohio State and Texas are close behind.

Nebraska and Air Force also put bowl hopes on the line today but two other nationally ranked teams stand in their path.
Scouts from several bowls will be in Lincoln, Neb., where the fourth-ranked Cornhuskers take on No. 20 Kansas State with the Big Eight lead at stake. There'll also be scouts in Colorado Springs, Colo., where once-beaten Air Force takes on Rose Bowl-bound Stanford.

Six other teams which conceivably could interest one of the bowls include Syracuse (6-3), Texas Tech (7-2), Penn State (5-3), North Carolina (6-3), Pittsburgh (5-3) and New Mexico (6-2).
Syracuse plays at West Virginia, Texas Tech is at Baylor, Penn State entertains Ohio U., North Carolina visits Clemson, Pitt is at home to Boston College and New Mexico hosts Brigham Young.
Nebraska, which could have its hands full with Kansas State, the Big Eight's top defensive unit, probably will get an Orange Bowl bid with a victory.

Other major contests send ninth-rated Louisiana State against Mississippi State, Alabama to Miami, Fla., Wyoming to Houston, second-rated Texas against Texas Christian where the Longhorns will be favored by 24 points and San Diego State against UC Santa Barbara in the unbeaten Aztecs' final game before next week's PCAA showdown with Cal State Long Beach.
Arkansas entertains Southern Methodist, Georgia visits Auburn, Mississippi meets Chattanooga minus quarterback Archie Manning. UCLA is at Washington, Dartmouth shoots for at least a share of the Ivy League crown against Cornell and Oregon is on the East Coast against Army.
For its game with Notre Dame, Georgia Tech will require "a near-perfect game."

Navy coach Rick Forzano disagrees.
"Against Notre Dame," began Forzano. "It will take a PERFECT game. I mean perfect!"
"The main thing Georgia Tech must contend with is Notre Dame's pass defense. We (Navy) were able to throw on Georgia Tech, so I assure you Notre Dame can."

IT'S A MOD, MOD OFFENSE THAT SANTA MONICA USES

By DAVE DANIEL
Staff Writer
Think of every old razzle-dazzle football play in the book.
Add a couple of new ones, such as a triple reverse or a pair of passes on one play, where the quarterback is first a thrower, then a receiver.
There's more, too, and it all adds up to the Santa Monica City College playbook.
The spectacular will be on display tonight when Long Beach City College hosts the Corsairs in a Metropolitan Conference game at Veterans Stadium at 8.
Santa Monica coach Jim Powers makes up for his team's lack of muscle with easily the most vivid imagination in the Metro and the rest of the coaches spend sleepless nights trying to come up with an appropriate defense.

Battle of Record-Breakers as Dummit Duels Sixkiller

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer
SEATTLE — The two conference rivals which came closest to stopping Stanford's drive to the Rose Bowl — UCLA and Washington — will clash today in their continuing fight with USC, Cal or Oregon for the runner-up spot in the conference race.
Both carried the Indians down to the wire before bowing — the Bruins finally being beaten, 9-7, on three field goals, while the Huskies bowed to a late TD in last week's 29-22 TV thriller.
A near-capacity crowd of 50,000 is expected and this will establish a season home attendance record for Washington, which drew 279,000 fans in its previous five appearances before hometown crowds. The mark is 327,921.
This has been a jinx-busting year in college football and the Bruins are three-point favorites to snap the hex the Huskies have had on them in Seattle. UCLA hasn't won in six tries here since 1958, and have failed to score a touchdown under current coach Tommy Prothro in two appearances — losing 16-3 in 1966 and 6-0 in '68.

HSC bye
Dummit and Washington's Indian sophomore Sonny Sixkiller.
Both have rewritten their schools' record books and will be out to break a few more marks today.
Dummit, already the prolific record-breaker in UCLA history, has set nine school records and tied two others in just 18 games as a Bruin, figures to set three more marks against the Huskies. He needs (1) one more scoring pass (he has 25) to break the tie with Paul Cameron for the most TD's in a season; (2) five more throws to break Gary Beban's career mark of 465 attempts; and (3) just two more completions to surpass Beban's career mark of 243.
Sixkiller, who already owns eight records after only eight games, needs just 77 more yards to break Don Heinrich's single season passing record of 1,846; 81 yards for the total offense record, and is only five TD passes away from Heinrich's season mark of 14.
Sixkiller may have a slight advantage over Dummit today because his receivers are in a healthier condition. UCLA's injury report reveals that Brad Lyman's knee is acting up again, and although Terry Vernoy and Rick Wilkes are due to play, they still are nursing injuries. Thus, the load will fall on sophomores Reggie Echols and Mike Clayton.
The Cherokee Indian star has been one of the nation's sopp sensations this year.
Although he was an all-state prep at Ashland, Ore., he played second string to Greg Collins of Torrance last year as a freshman. In fact, he completed only nine passes. However, they accounted for 246 yards and four went for touchdowns.
Collins still was No. 1 until he suffered a broken collar bone in the opening minutes of the spring game last May. Sixkiller then came in and completed 24 of 50 passes for 389 yards to nail down the starting job and proceed to set three records in his first varsity game against Michigan State.

The Huskies, beset by racial problems last year as they recorded a 1-9 season, have come back strongly this year. Sixkiller has an excellent supporting cast headed by Jim Krieg, who not only is one of the nation's top four kickoff return specialists (he has returned two 97 and 95 yards for touchdowns), but also is Sonny's favorite target with a school record of 44 catches so far.
Heading the running attack is Bo Cornell, Washington's fourth all-time rusher, fifth all-time scorer, and is one of the six leading pass catchers in Husky gridiron history.

The Bruins' serious injury list grew again the past week when they lost Steve Freitas, senior second-string offensive tackle who broke a leg in scrimmage.
However, their linebacking corps will be at full strength for the first time since the second game with the return of sophomore standout Tom Daniels.
It has rained nearly two inches here, but the field will be fast. It's AstroTurf. Clearing skies with temperatures in the low 50's are expected.

Horton Claims Hollypark Win

Horton Hanover stepped into the favorite's role for next week's $100,000 American Pacing Classic Friday night as he streaked to a hard-fought nose victory over La Verne Hanover and Super Wave in the $25,000 Western Pace at Hollywood Park.

With 24,200 Mardi Gras Night fans in attendance, Horton Hanover hit the wire in 1:59 4-5 after a sensational final quarter in .27 4-5. The 9.5 favorite, Horton Hanover returned $5.80, $3.60 and $2.80 across the board. La Verne Hanover paid $4.60 to place and $3.40 to show and Super Wave returned $4.00 to show.

Rum Customer led the Western field of superstars through a 29 2-5 first quarter and still was on top at the half in 1:01 1-5. Horton bring out a strong field of seven three-year-old pacers as it goes as the eighth race. Judge, who staged a whirlwind finish to win the matinee pace last week in 1:58 4-5, and Noble Knight Time, victorious in a similar skirmish two weeks ago as an 11-1 outsider, will seek repeat wins.

Batman, Quaker City Stable's strong finishing son of Bye Bye Byrd, will face five speedy rivals in the $12,500 Los Feliz Pace, the night time program feature.

FOSTER'S TRAINER QUICK WITH PUNCH

DETROIT (UPI) — El Cador, the Terrible Turk, brandished the right hand that once made him terrible and brought a little excitement into the dull training routine of Joe Frazier and Bob Foster Friday.

Billie Edwards, Foster's trainer, is 64 years old now, but in his heyday he fought as El Cador, the Terrible Turk. With one quick right, he nearly cut down one of Frazier's sparring partners, Ray Anderson.

The trouble started when Anderson, known as a "cutie" who should avoid getting hit on the chin at all costs, refused to leave the only dressing room in the gym that is shared by Foster and Frazier in training for their heavyweight title bout here next Wednesday night.

Foster, being a modest young man, requested Anderson to leave.

"A surly reply ensued," Edwards said. With that Edwards hit Anderson in the chin with a right. Visibly shaken, Anderson retreated across the room to pick up a stick, and Foster countered with a plank. Anderson turned around and left.

15 Hopefuls Seek Rich Garden Pot

Combined News Services

Garden State Park closes out the 1970 New Jersey thoroughbred racing season today with a bumper field of 15 2-year-olds drawn for the 18th and richest renewal of the Garden State Stakes at Cherry Hill, N.J.

With all starting, including five supplementary nominees, the 1-1/16 mile event will gross $352,320 with the winner earning $211,392.

Brookmeade Stable's Limit To Reason, a leading contender for divisional honors, is expected to rule the favorite in the Garden State.

Jorge Velasquez will ride Limit To Reason, who with earnings of $319,055 is the nation's most successful 2-year-old.

Sir Dagonet and Executioner are expected to draw strong support.

Judgable looms as the 3-1 favorite to capture the $50,000 Queens County Handicap at Aqueduct in what could be the richest purse ever in the 65th running of the event.

Should all 13 entries go, the winner will receive $39,455 in a gross purse of $60,700. Along with Judgable, Protanto is a 4-1 choice while Best Turn is 6-1 and Ship Leave Dorileo, Burd Alane, Al Hattab and Gleaming Light are all 8-1 choices.

Twenty-three of the world's finest steeplechasers are due at the wire for the inaugural running of the $100,000 Colonial Cup in Camden, S.C.

Among the favorites are Crisp, from Australia, Ermitage, from France, and L'Escargot, an Irish-based horse owned by Raymond R. Guest of King George, Va.

At Bay Meadows Friday, Serenader ran away from the field of 2-year-olds in the feature race, winning by four and a half lengths.

Robert Nono brought the son of Royal Serenader home in a time of 1:38 3-5 for the mile.

All-Stars Defeat L.B. Flying Wheels

The Long Beach All-Stars utilized a well-rehearsed last second play, with Ray Gritton leaving his wheelchair to make the deciding layup, as the All-Stars defeated the Long Beach Flying Wheels, 60-53, Friday in a charity game at Cal State Long Beach.

John Jackson and Joe Alexander led the Flying Wheels with 12 points. The Wheels spotted the All-Stars 40 points before the game started.

Condors' Brisker Tallies 50

United Press International

John Brisker turned in his second 50-point performance Friday night as the Pittsburgh Condors stormed from a 24-point deficit to beat the Texas Chaparrals, 156-150, in overtime in the American Basketball Assn.

Brisker, who hit the league's season high of 53 points Thursday night in a losing effort against Indiana, came back with 50 Friday to lead the Condors to the win. Teammate Stew Johnson chipped in 35 in the offensive parade.

Ron Nelson missed an 18-foot jump shot from the corner with 20 seconds left in the game and the Carolina Cougars held on for a 98-96 victory over the Floridians.

The Cougars grabbed the

Rival Tennis Groups to Seek Peace Plan

LONDON (UPI) — The International Lawn Tennis Federation will hold an emergency committee meeting here Monday night in a British-instigated effort to prevent all-out war between the ILTF and the touring pro circuit.

The meeting follows a series of "secret" talks between British Lawn Tennis Assn. officials and the World Championship Tennis group which controls a large proportion of the touring pros. The discussions, under the chairmanship of tennis dress designer Teddy Tinling, have taken place almost daily for the past two weeks.

British LTA chairman Derek Penman warned the ILTF and the WCT were on a "collision course" because of rival grand prix competitions arranged for next year, "which must be averted or the game itself would be the loser."

Penman said, "It is our view that they (the ILTF committee) must accept this proposal or else be resigned to the fact that each nation is entitled to make its own arrangements where grand prix tournaments are concerned."

The ILTF has arranged a grand prix series of approximately 30 events but the WCT has planned its own grand prix of 21 tournaments.

Penman said the meetings with WCT executive director Mike Davies and

Kifaru-Where Black Rhino Roams

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

It may be that in the grand scheme of things the fate of the rhinoceros is in some way bound up with me and its extinction may in some way diminish me. I'm not exactly sure how this will come about but I am willing to listen.

In fact, I listened and watched for an hour Thursday night as Ch. 4 aired "Kifaru: Black Rhinoceros," which offered some pleasing scenes of the land where the rhino roams.

Because of fear that the rhino was in danger of becoming extinct, Canadian biologist John Goddard was called in to make a study of the beast and its environment in Africa.

His wife and two children accompanied him on his field trips and he pursues the creatures, studying their characteristics measuring their teeth and horns, which some humans believed had aphrodisiac qualities when ground up and swallowed.

Goddard learned that the rhino is holding his own and is not in danger of extinction. I suppose I should be ashamed of myself, but somehow, I can't seem to care. I can take a rhino or leave it.

MID-SEASON changes in the ABC-TV schedule have not been announced but a trade paper reports that among shows expected to be dropped are "The Immortal," "The Silent Force," "Matt Lincoln," and "Barefoot in the Park."

On the possible list of drops are "The Young Rebels," "The Most Deadly Game," "The Odd Couple," and "The Young Lawyers."

THE TED MACK Amateur Hour may be on CBS Sundays, but the reports of its death are not exactly correct.

A wire service story last Sunday, in Tele-Vues, reported the end of the Amateur Hour, which brought a disclaimer of the "obit" from Mack and The J. B. Williams Co. which has sponsored the show on TV for the past 15 years.

The company states that it is "still interested in continuing its sponsorship . . . and is exploring other (than the Sunday) time periods both on CBS and other networks."

The problems came about because Sunday football schedules on CBS caused pre-emptations of the Amateur Hour resulting in poor ratings for the show. Meanwhile, Mack says the obit is premature.

KENNETH CLARK, who is the hottest thing on TV this season because of his TV series "Civilisation" which airs Wednesday nights on Ch. 28, will be the guest on "Meet the Press" 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Ch. 4.

HARBOR CHEVROLET
One of our fine salesmen, "RIP" GILBERT tells of his search for a couple of World War II buddies during his recent visit to Hong Kong. Looking through the seemingly thin phone directory under "WING" for his sidekick named Sam, and under "WONG" for his chum called Charles, he found not a single WING nor a WONG listed in the book!!!
Completely confused, he went to the telephone company's main office and related his problem to the receptionist, a life-size replica of a China doll. Very cordially, she explained that because of the multitudinous amount of Wings and Wongs availing themselves of telephone service in Hong Kong, we gave all of them unlisted numbers - just to make sure you don't "WING" the "WONG" number!
Folks, you won't go wrong by dialing M for MEDER at GA 5-3341, Harbor Chevrolet, 3770 Cherry.

Satellite Set to Beam TV to Schools, Test Lasers
WASHINGTON — The space agency nominated a satellite on its 1973 schedule Friday to be the first to beam television signals directly to schools or other small receiving stations.
From a synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific ocean area of the Galapagos islands, the satellite also will test the use of the concentrated light beams of laser technology for communications.
"This laser capability could potentially relieve crowding in the radio-frequency bands and open vast new spectral regions for new or expandable communications service, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.
The Applications Technology satellite, called ATS-F, will have a 30-foot diameter deployable antenna and a precise control system to make it possible to send TV signals directly to small receivers, NASA said.
After the initial tests over the Galapagos area, the spacecraft will be moved until it is within

'Crash' Ryan Ideas Back to Haunt Auto Makers

By GARY DAWSON
Ridder News Service

ST. PAUL, Minn. — In his classic indictment of the automobile industry, "Unsafe at Any Speed," consumer advocate Ralph Nader wrote that there was only one man who "persistently challenged" Detroit to build safe automobiles.

That man is retired University of Minnesota Prof. James J. "Crash" Ryan, 66, who lives in his St. Paul home overlooking the Mississippi River, still feeling bitter about not having his ideas accepted by the manufacturers and convinced that Detroit is "not interested" in safety.

But now, some 20 years after Crash Ryan first drove a specially equipped car into a cement wall at the University of Minnesota, his ideas are coming back to haunt the manufacturers — whom he accuses of cutting off his research funds on two different occasions.

The rebirth of Crash Ryan began in Washington, D.C., this past summer when the government issued contracts to three manufacturers to build a "safe" car by Jan. 1, 1972. The person who helped establish government specifications and who will be overseeing tests of some 14 prototype models is retired Col. John Paul Stapp. Ryan's old associate and longtime friend, now chief medical scientist for the Department of Transportation's National Highway Safety Bureau.

STAPP, billed as the "fastest man on earth" when he rode rocket sleds at speeds of up to 632 miles an hour in the 1950s while perfecting safety devices for jet airplanes, gives Ryan much of the credit for the new government program.

The transportation consultant, who is also a graduate of the University of Minnesota Medical School, told the St. Paul Dispatch in a telephone interview from his Washington office that the government will use the three test models to establish safety regulations for manufacturers.

"Practically every one of his (Ryan's) ideas is included in this experiment," Stapp said. He stated that the $15 million to be spent on the project "will produce more advances in safety than anything else we are doing."

From his tests, which ended in 1963, Ryan designed a car with these safety features: a collapsible steering wheel that slides down the post when a certain amount of pressure is applied in a collision; a broad, well-padded top on the steering post to cushion the driver's chest when he is thrown forward by a sudden stop and a deeply recessed dashboard on the passenger side so the passenger's head has clearance if he is thrown forward.

A CAR with a hydraulic bumper which absorbs the shock of impact; seat belts which are tightened bydraulically when the bumper strikes an object; a padded steering wheel that slides down the post when a certain amount of pressure is applied in a collision; a broad, well-padded top on the steering post to cushion the driver's chest when he is thrown forward by a sudden stop and a deeply recessed dashboard on the passenger side so the passenger's head has clearance if he is thrown forward.

Ryan said his tests show that in such a car it is safe to hit a wall at 30 miles an hour and that "you could walk away after a collision at 40." He and graduate students rode in the vehicles and a test car, instead of using dummies as most researchers do.

There are differences in safety devices being tested by manufacturers now and those that will be tested by the government when they are compared with Ryan's apparatuses.

Stapp admits that the collapsible steering wheel which has now been developed is not as safe as Ryan's padded wheel because of the pressure it takes to collapse the former.

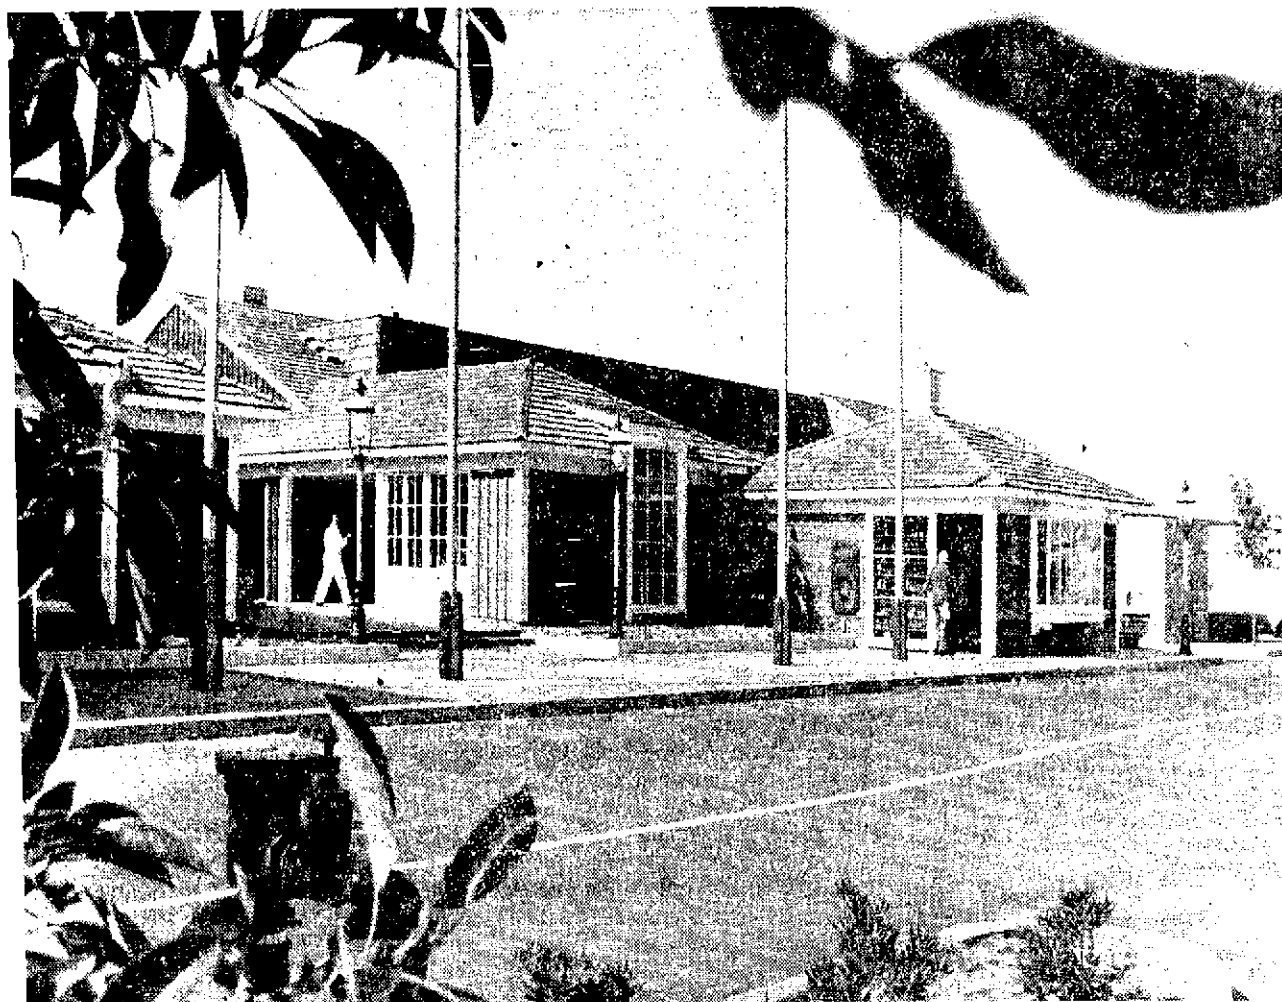

RYAN has another word for it. He said it is a "fake" which may reduce chest injuries but still result in many head and throat injuries.

Ryan also said Detroit is being "fraudulent" in attempting to sell the public on a bag which inflates and cushions the driver upon impact with another car. He said the device is not safe. A water-filled

SEAPORT VILLAGE AT LONG BEACH MARINA ... Eight Of 20 Shops Open

IN LONG BEACH MARINA

Seaport Village Begins to Bustle

Eight shops are open at Seaport Village, the four-acre development and only waterfront commercial area in the $14 million Long Beach Marina.

Hickory Farms of Ohio opened its doors two weeks ago.

This week, seven other stores and shops have opened.

These include Martyn's Hallmark Cards and Gifts, Village Peddlers Pac, World Treasures, Casa de Artesanas, Given's Flowers, Rug Crafters and the Robert Moore Photography Studio.

Other stores — and three restaurants — plan openings on an accelerated scale in the weeks ahead.

THE 17 specialty shops will range from an art gallery to a tobacconist, from a tour boat service to a shop specializing in games.

The 70,000-square-foot Seaport Village development will include three restaurants — the soon-to-be-opened Jolly Roger, the Seaport Village Steakhouse and Jungry Jose.

Seaport Village is a "Made in Long Beach" project, according to Ron Safren, spokesman for the development.

Safren said the Long Beach architectural firm of Killingsworth, Brady and Associates drafted the concepts for Seaport Village which won the approval of the Long Beach City Council.

The council awarded the developers a 60-year lease on the four-acre site, last remaining property of substantial size in the Marina.

FINANCING of the project was also retained in Long Beach, with Aetna Savings and Loan Association handling the fiscal needs.

Construction by John R. Slaughter Co. of Gardena was augmented with landscape engineering by Linsch and Reynolds of Long Beach.

Landscape patios are used to link the shops in Seaport Village. Wood, particularly in timber-covered pathways — is extensively used.

"Seaport Village is exactly what its name implies," Safren said, "a complete commercial com-

SP's Land Use in Speed-Up

NEW YORK (BW) — To implement its stepped-up real estate management program, Southern Pacific Co. has formed a new subsidiary, Southern Pacific Development Co., and transferred to it $25 million in assets.

SP President B. F. Biagini, speaking to New York Security analysts this week, said the assets consist of approximately $23 million worth of land and $2 million in cash.

All of the land is in California. It is principally in the Los Angeles and San Francisco Bay areas, with some in Central California.

O. G. Linde, president of Southern Pacific Land Co., also heads the new SP Development Co.

"Formation of Southern Pacific Development Co. puts us in position for faster, more profitable development of our non-railroad operating properties," Biagini explained.

"New projects may be undertaken by the development company directly, or by its wholly or partially owned subsidiaries, or through partnerships or joint ventures with outside institutions."

"All types of real estate development will be considered, with emphasis placed on rail-served industrial development including construction and the lease or sale of land and improvements."

R. J. McLean, vice president and treasurer of Southern Pacific Co., also told the analysts that SP invested $1.6 billion in capital improvements in the decade 1960-69, while increasing its net long term debt only $44 million, or 6 per cent.

The $1.6 billion is equal to about half of SP's present total investment in transportation property.

OVER THE 10 YEARS SP retired $329 million of debt — $342 million of serial obligations and $187 million of long term debt — while borrowing $573 million through sale of equipment obligations. Peak year for capital outlays was 1969, when the figure was almost $250 million, McLean said, and capital investments in 1970 will total more than $200 million.

"Southern Pacific has no long term debt due until 1974, when $24.8 million in 3½ per cent first mortgage bonds mature," McLean said. "Neither the company nor any of its subsidiaries have any unsecured bank indebtedness or commercial paper outstanding at present. We believe, therefore, that net working capital is adequate."

"We are confident of our ability to provide the funds necessary to keep Southern Pacific in the forefront of competitive transportation serving the fastest growing area of the nation."

Average coupon interest rate on all SP debt is only 4.98 per cent, he noted.

Paul V. Garin, assistant vice president-technical research and development of Southern Pacific Transportation Co., also addressed the analysts and described several of SP's 75 railroad research projects now underway.

Water Agencies, Land Developers in Torrid Race

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

The great race could be entering the home stretch. Contenders of it can be simplified this way: are the land developers in the Southland and the suppliers of water.

This month 30 representatives of business industry and municipalities of Orange County — all vitally interested in present and future water supplies — personally traced the source of our water step-by-step from as far away as Lake Powell in Utah.

The group, guest of the Metropolitan Water District of Orange County and Metropolitan Water District, took four days to make the chartered bus trek across mountain and desert.

From the Denver Filtration Plant high above Yorba Linda to Glen Canyon Dam near Page, Ariz., the group looked, listened — and asked questions.

The immensity of the Colorado River Aqueduct system and the pumping stations that lift the water over desert ranges became more vivid.

The engineering feats, dating back to the 1930s, are inspiring.

But, having seen it all and realizing the pace the Southland continues to grow, the need for more water is sobering.

Coming Communities

At Gene Village, MWD's articulate public relations director, Ray Hudson, and George A. Patton, general manager of MWDCC, concluded the first day by describing minutely the problems and — hopefully — the solutions to providing ever-increasing quantities of water.

Even as they spoke, Transamerica Development Company, force behind the emergence of Diamond Bar as a major new community, was announcing new, projected population figures for yet another section of the Southland.

Sid Karsh, assistant vice president, said completion of Pomona Freeway from Los Angeles to Diamond Bar has produced revised ideas of the number of homes "in the East Valley" area.

Population projections for the Eastern San Gabriel Valley are 750,000 in 1975, 890,000 in 1980 and 965,000 by 1985 (these could be lower in light of census realities).

Looking at this through the eyes of MWD and other agencies, first thought, then, must be the need for more water.

Meet Bill Hurst

In the tour group was one man who perhaps has more at stake in adequate water supplies than most of his traveling companions. He is William Hurst, newly appointed general manager of the Irvine Ranch Water District.

His background encompasses general management, sales and marketing management, engineering, production and quality control management. He has been responsible for the formation of two companies — and has served as a director of two others in the Orange County area.

Now, however, his primary interest is water.

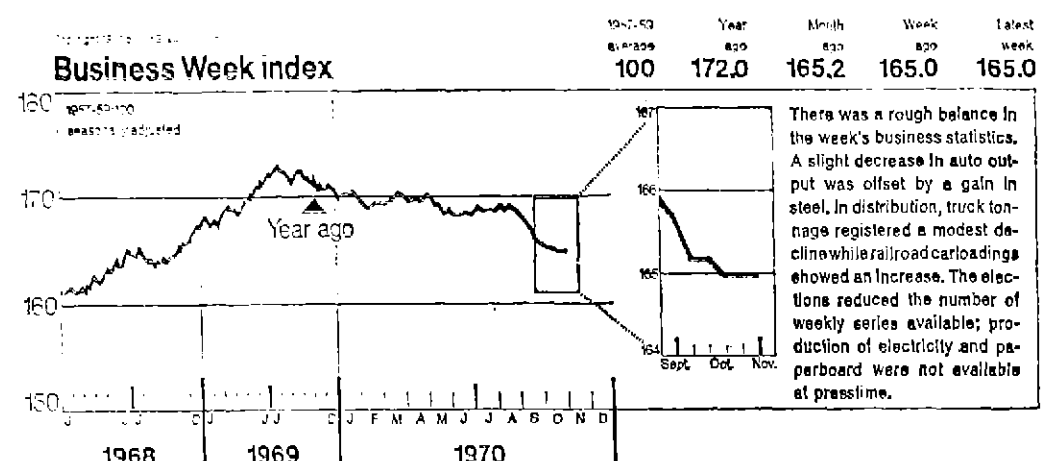

The Irvine Master Plan for a total planned community of nearly 500,000 residents already has attracted nationwide attention. The Irvine Ranch Water District will be the exclusive agency providing for both water and sanitation requirements.

Asked why he considers this new job important, Hurst said:

"If man is ever going to solve the critical problems of environmental pollution, he must introduce and apply the technical and managerial skills that have made possible the great achievements of the space age."

Ray Quisley, director of the IRWD, is more to the point:

"In Bill Hurst, we have the leader."

BUSINESS, INDUSTRY WEEK

Auto Makers Ease Up Overtime

The even ups and downs of the components, steadied the index at its weekago level.

Auto makers eased up on Saturday overtime and brought production down 1.5 per cent. Compared to a year ago, output dropped 40.9 per cent. Steel output gained 2.0 per cent in the current week. The rise was attributed to an upswing following some plant shutdowns for minor repairs.

Crude oil refinery runs slipped 0.2 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings jumped 2.8 per cent, showing a gain in Ford and kindred products transport. All other carloadings increased 4.6 per cent, reflecting increases in coal and grain. Inter-city truck tonnage went down 0.6 per cent.

MANUFACTURERS ARE TURNING new ideas in packaging and product movement into substantial savings that are helping offset the profit squeeze created by the economic slowdown and the strike against General Motors Corp., Industry Week reported.

Generally, manufacturers are thinking more broadly — in terms of entire distribution systems and of versatile, reusable devices rather than individual packages.

A check by the business magazine finds companies effectively using these approaches:

- Shipping on a bulk basis, often with arrangement for return cargoes.
- Using high density packaging techniques that can, for example, get more than twice the usual number of television picture tubes into a truckload.
- Standardizing to reduce the number of different packages to be handled.
- Finding the best and fastest system for each product, with a growing emphasis on plastics.
- Adding support materials to absorb impact and reduce damages.

Manufacturers say that about half of the new ideas stem from their marketing people and about half from packaging suppliers. A few of the ideas stem from customer complaints.

Shipping by the carload to eliminate individual packages is winning growing favor, Industry Week said. Suppliers of carbon black to the tire industry, for example, have switched from bags to bulk handling by rail, and have reduced waste.

BEGINNING SUNDAY

Thriftmart Going Total Discount

"Beginning Sunday, all 73 California-Nevada Thriftmarts will be total discount," Robert E. Lavery, president and board chairman of the 40 year old organization, has announced.

"We wouldn't do it until we could do it right, and now after two years of planning, we have put it all together. Thriftmart can now flatly state that we have lowered prices that are not fair-traded or government controlled.

"Our lowest possible prices were accomplished through having the lowest cost of operation. We adopted a well-programmed scheduling system that told us how many people we needed, where and when they were needed, and the type of work that each person would perform. Our stores, offices and warehouses are completely programmed for the ultimate in efficiency," Lavery said.

"WE ARE now able to ship merchandise from all warehouses to our stores at a lower cost than the largest grocery wholesaler

NEW JOB

William E. Campeau, Jr., former corporate vice president of Matineland of the Pacific, has been named vice president of The Marketing Media Agency, La Jolla and Beverly Hills.

in the West. All orders for merchandise flow into our warehouses on fixed schedules and are transmitted by code numbers directly into computers.

"Palletized deliveries to the stores are on fixed times. Pallet jacks are utilized for fast unloading at the store where the goods can go directly to the shelves.

"To prove we were right, we selected several stores where conditions offered every obstacle to success and made them "Big I" Discount. Here we tested, every function of the operation and every element of our established performance levels in order to learn a whole new concept of merchandising," Lavery said.

"WE MAINTAINED a wide selection of nationally known food products in every department.

"Instead of 25 or 30 advertised specials, we ran nearly 100 items, every one discount priced, passing our operations savings on to the customer.

"The final challenge was to develop a method to do what other discounters said couldn't be done... give the stamp savers

Radar Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — RCA Corp. has obtained an $11.3 million Air Force contract to operate radar tracking facilities.

OAK GLEN TIME

Pretty Carol Myerscough (Miss Yucaipa) recently was crowned Queen of Oak Glen Apple Harvest, now in full swing between Yucaipa and Beaumont. Southland visitors are enjoying autumn scenery, picnic grounds and Oak Glen's restaurants and cider mills. Season extends into holiday season.

Security Pacific's Branch in Seal Beach Going Up

Security Pacific National Bank has disclosed a late December target date for the completion of the Seal Beach branch.

Vice President Robert R. Shimmel, administrator of the bank's Coastal Region, headquartered in Newport Beach, reported the new 3,250 square-foot building, under construction at 770 Pacific Coast Highway, will become the bank's first location in Seal Beach.

Contemporary architecture highlights the new branch, accented by glass, brick and a wood shake roof. R. G. Webb signed the building contract for this $112,500 structure.

Security Pacific National Bank, founded in 1871, maintains 408 domestic banking locations, as well as offices abroad in London, Tokyo, Hong Kong and soon Paris, Brussels and Mexico City.

One of the nation's two largest branch-banking systems, Security Pacific's total resources exceed $7.4 billion.

Job Is Let

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — DuPont Co. has obtained a $4.5 million contract for additional work at an Army explosives plant.

Cessna's Profit Margin Stays at Reasonable Level

WICHITA, Kan. (BW) — Cessna Aircraft Co. has reported preliminary figures show total consolidated sales for its 1970 fiscal year ended Sept. 30 reached $227,000,000 and that after-tax profit margins held at reasonable levels.

After-tax earnings were $9,261,000, or $1.31 per share, based on 7,078,575 average shares outstanding.

Cessna's 1969 total consolidated sales were $283,000,000. After-tax profits were $15,223,000 or $2.15 per share, based on 7,091,000 average shares outstanding.

Commercial aircraft sales in 1970 reached approximately $123,000,000, compared with $168,000,000 last year.

"The change in commercial aircraft volume," Dwayne Wallace, Cessna board chairman, said, "is directly related to the softening of the economy. Under the changing conditions, Cessna delivered 50.1 per cent of all industry aircraft units, compared with 47.5 per cent in 1969."

Wallace added that export sales of commercial and military aircraft reached a record high of $10,000,000. Defense product sales were $85,000,000 compared with $74,000,000 in fiscal 1969. Sales of fluid power products for farm and industrial equipment reached $39,000,000, compared with last year's $41,000,000.

"MORE importantly," Wallace said, "we continued our research and development projects during 1970. This helps assure the orderly development of new products to meet our customers future needs."

Purex Looks for 'Very Good' 1971

The annual meeting of shareholders of Purex Corp. Ltd. was held in Los Angeles and Board Chairman and President William R. Tischer reviewed operations for the fiscal year ended June 30.

Looking toward the future, he said "barring further deterioration of the national economy, Purex will have a very good fiscal 1971, which will demonstrate two important facts: — Purex has the ability, the people and the products to respond quickly and effectively to adversity and change and — Purex will be in sound shape and in a strong position from which to continue its growth into the remainder of the 1970s."

Tischer then detailed the expansion of Purex since 1965, stressing the growth and diversification which was achieved through an active acquisition program and internal development.

He pointed out that diversification requires changed concepts of management structure and he announced a reorganization of management structure effective immediately.

"THIS major reorganization is achieved by promoting nine executives from within our management team and realigning our previous 10 operating units into four new units," he explained.

"These four new units will each be headed by men who have been running operating groups as group vice presidents. They will become executive vice presidents. They are:

Thomas Desmond, who will be in charge of grocery and drug store products; Lyle Lofdahl, in charge of international operations; Arnold Prosser, in charge of industrial, institutional and commercial products; and Roger Robinson, in charge of aviation and agriculture."

Tischer said "this reorganization places the right people in the right spots at the right time and will aid tremendously in the only acceptable objective — sustained profitable growth."

Vons Garden Grove in Thursday Opening

Vons, one of the oldest West Coast food chains, opens its newest store Thursday at 12431 Valley View, Garden Grove.

The Vons Garden Grove, which exceeds 29,788 square feet, will be open to the public following traditional ribbon cutting ceremonies at 9 a.m. in which civic dignitaries and business officials will participate.

Gifts will be presented at the door to the first shoppers and prizes will be awarded. An eight-day grand opening sale will feature specially reduced prices in all departments.

VONS Garden Grove will be the 12th market opened by Vons in 1970.

It is the latest in architectural design and features modern merchandising techniques for customer convenience and service.

Venetian terrazzo floors are seen throughout. Interior colors are gay and vibrant. Soft music from hidden speakers, the harmoniously decorated interior and scientifically cooled air, all help make shopping more pleasant.

A large wall directory may be seen and read from any point in the store and the wide aisles keep the flow of traffic moving smoothly.

Vons Frozen Food section stretches 444 feet, while meat will be displayed on a 76-foot long self-service meat counter.

A self-service liquor department, air curtain dairy and a barbeque machine are also included in the new store.

Wage Increases

GREENVILLE, S.C. (UPI) — J. P. Stevens & Co. announced it would raise wage rates in its textile plants Nov. 30. ### FROM DOUGLAS

Comet Wins VIP Award

Douglas Aircraft Company division of McDonnell Douglas Corporation has presented its VIP "Outstanding Supplier" award to Comet Engineering Company, Santa Fe Springs.

Wally Van Cott, Douglas director and manager of manpower resources development, made the presentation to Norris W. Clarke, the Santa Fe Springs company president.

Van Cott said the VIP award "Value in Performance Through Very Important People" is made annually to fewer than 15 of Douglas' 20,000 suppliers and vendors.

The award represents an extension of Douglas' VIP Program through which that company recognizes its employees for outstanding performance and individual contribution toward quality workmanship and reduction of production costs.

COMET Engineering Company is a major supplier of highly precision metal fittings used throughout the Douglas DC-8, DC-9 and DC-10 aircraft.

The firm was formed in Los Angeles in 1954 with seven employees engaged in the production of machined parts. Its first order being with Douglas.

Since then the company has expanded to include a work force of 30. In 1968 the firm built a new air conditioned facility, one of the largest in the area at 1120 Greenstone Ave.

Guiding hands are those of Norris W. Clarke, president; Robert S. Shane, vice president and sales manager; and Courtney W. Trostle, chairman.

bumper also is unsafe, Ryan added.

Ryan's animosity toward Detroit can be understood when you consider that he believes lobbying in Congress by Detroit was twice responsible for government severing of his crash research funds.

And because he believed his findings so important, he wanted them published, and the devices installed in new cars. Therefore, most of the devices are not patented, and he has "not received a dime" for his efforts, he said.

"You see," Ryan said "if Detroit can sell 10 million cars a year without safety modifications, why should they listen to me?"

And he said if he was head of the Department of Transportation, he would "shut down the auto industry" until they agreed to install proved safety devices.

Lower Down Payment Now at Cerritos-Landmark

Five per cent down payments are now being offered at two Landmark Homes subdivisions, according to Robert R. James, vice president and general manager of Signal Landmark, Inc.

Landmark Homes on South Street in Cerritos and Landmark Homes on Walker Street, less than two miles apart and with homes priced from $28,375 to $34,125, have lowered down payment requirements by 50 per cent, James said.

Three, four and five bedrooms are available on one and two story elevations at the Landmark communities. In addition, at the La Palma subdivision, which is closing out the final 15 units, a model home is being put up for sale.

Both communities include forced air heating, fireplaces, and built-in range, hood, fan, oven disposal and dishwasher. Built-in TV antennas, rear yard fencing and carpets are also included. Some plans have three car garages.

Both Landmark Homes subdivisions are serviced with underground utilities. Landmark Homes are built by Santa Ana's Signal Landmark, Inc., one of The Signal Companies.

Close-Out Under Way at Westhaven Site

Set off by good location, features, floor plans and designs, the big builder's closeout sale campaign is underway at the Westhaven complex in Westminster-Fountain Valley, according to Dick Kurth, of Kurth & Associates, sales agents for the Shields-developed community.

Located at Westwood and Bushard Drive are the three new model homes, opened to display the remaining homes in the Shields Development community of Westhaven.

These models are priced from only $31,950 and can be financed through FHA, VA or conventional terms. There are 20 distinctive exteriors to select from in these one and two story models.

The Shields famous "turn key" package provides at no additional cost many essentials to the home buyer in an effort to save him money and allow the family to move into their new home at their earliest convenience.

FEATURED are complete kitchens with table-top ranges and a complete host of other time saving built-ins. The package also includes luminous ceilings, optional pass-through patio windows and wet bars.

Also included in the turn key package are carpets, drapes and fencing.

A choice of three or four bedrooms is available and some of the homes have sunken living rooms.

To see these new models, take either the Santa Ana or Garden Grove Freeway south on Brookhurst or the San Diego Freeway north on Brookhurst. Once on Brookhurst, continue to Edinger, then west to Bushard and north to Westwood and the models.

Angels Center Opens Thursday

Orange County's newest and largest building supply department store, the 100,000-square-foot Angels Home Improvement Center, 12662 Chapman Ave., just east of Harbor Boulevard, will hold its grand opening celebration at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Hailed as the latest-growing do-it-yourself chain in the West, the new Angels Center will incorporate the newest and most modern merchandising displays and techniques, according to 37-year-old president and founder Sidney Kline.

An Angels home improvement center is actually the equivalent of a complete lumber yard, complete hardware store, complete plumbing store, complete electrical supply headquarters, complete sporting goods store, complete paint store, and a complete general merchandise department store, all conveniently arranged in one plant, one stop, one price center," Kline explained.

EACH OF these departments carry merchandise in "depth," without the usual stock limitations of the orthodox specialized store, Kline said.

"We pride ourselves on stocking every conceivable item in the building supply field," stressed the dynamic 37-year-old business leader. "We are the only complete do-it-yourself center where you can actually find every item necessary to build a complete building or home."

The opening of Angels Downey-Norwalk location last November attracted huge crowds.

Kline commented, "We expect Angels Orange County openings to be even more spectacular."

All Angels stores are open from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. weekdays, and from 8 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. The new Angels Orange County center will be open until 9 p.m. Saturday Nov. 21 during the opening celebration.

OVER 250 new jobs will be created with the opening of Angels Home Improvement Centers' second Orange County do-it-yourself building supply center in Westminster-Huntington Beach district early in 1971, according to Kline.

Many Orange County residents are training at other Angels location in preparation for the Garden Grove opening. Both units will employ approximately 125 people in all capacities, Kline said.

Mrs. Binns Appointed to Council

Hilary Sandoval Jr., administrator of the Small Business Administration, has announced in Washington appointment of Mrs. Jack Binns, Long Beach, as a member of the Los Angeles District Advisory Council for the SBA.

Sandoval said Mrs. Binns has been selected for council membership "in recognition of her knowledge of an interest in problems of small business."

As a member of the Los Angeles District Council, Mrs. Binns will take part in the semi-annual meetings at which the needs of the local small business community will be discussed and the means by which SBA can most effectively meet these needs will be considered.

THE ADVISORY Council serves as a channel of information to various local business and commercial interests regarding specific SBA programs, as well as an advisory body which keeps the District Director informed of current economic conditions within the Los Angeles District.

be able to accommodate two dozen small vessels at special boat moorings abutting the Marina.

The tie-up area, which will also be home port to a fleet of four boats, will parallel the Marina's east jetty for 150 feet and will allow seagoing visitors to stop for lunch or for leisurely shopping.

The eight shops now open, in addition to Hickory Farms of Ohio, as described by Salren:

World Treasures - Unusual gifts gathered from around the world including Spanish armor, African hide, Swiss toys and Oriental jewelry. Many of the items are "one of a kind."

VILLAGE Peddlers Pac - Combines the lore of world cookery with the sophistication of innovative party-giving. The shop also has cookware ranging from 17th century French to the ultra modern.

Martyn's Card and Gift Shop - In addition to Hallmark cards and novelty greeting cards, Martyn's will also carry a variety of unusual gifts. Included are sculpture by John Duffey, Snoopy dolls, figurines by Leffon, Hummel and others, enamelware and variety items by Takahashi and Otogiri and pewter by Willon.

Casa de Artesanos - Threading beads and the artistry of needlework are but two of the avenues pursued at this unusual shop, with metal sculpture, tapestries, ship models, small wood paintings and other art objects on view. More than 100 artists will be represented.

Robert Moore Photography Studio - Moore has been active in Long Beach photography circles for nearly a decade. He is official photographer for the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

RUG Crafters - Reviving an ancient art, this shop will enable Village visitors to participate in the newest hobby in the nation, rug tufting. With special tools, yarns, jute backing and latex seals, however, the process now takes hours instead of months.

Given's Flowers - A well-established Long Beach floral firm, Given's will display centerpiece, potted plants, dried plant displays, artificial flowers, decor items and some candles.

Still to open are Don's Yacht Shop, Gala Galleria, Persian Crown Imports, Hiland Tobacco Locker, Smart Aleck, Ricardo's Decors, the Game Room, Seaport Vendors and the three restaurants.

Bauer Homes Second Unit in Opening Today

FROM JAPAN... Dodge Colt

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Dodge will enter a Colt in the small car sweepstakes for 1971. It will be an import of Japanese origin slated for the under $2,000 market.

The sub-compact Dodge Colt is manufactured by Mitsubishi Motors Corporation, part of the Mitsubishi Group, which produces a wide variety of products for worldwide markets including Nikon cameras and photographic equipment.

Available in coupe, two-door hardtop, four-door sedan, and four-door station wagon, Colt will go on sale in West Coast markets on January 1, 1971.

As availability improves, the car will be sold in other key market areas in the United States by selected Dodge dealers.

The 95.3-inch-wheelbase car comes with an overhead cam, 97.5 cubic-inch (1600 cc), four-cylinder engine. The water-cooled, mini-trem develops 100 gross horsepower.

Basic dimensions (hardtop) include: Length: 160.6"; Width: 61.4"; Height: 52.5"; Track, front and rear: 50.6"; Shoulder room, front and rear: 50.2"; Headroom, front: 36.7" — rear: 35.5"; Legroom, front: 42.7" — rear: 30.5".

Disc brakes, adjustable steering column and reclining front seats (except on the coupe) are a few of the normally optional items that are standard on the Dodge Colt.

"IMPORT MODELS HAVE BECOME increasingly popular in this country," said R. B. McCurry, Dodge general manager. "They are an integral part of the growing portion of the automobile industry that we call the small car market."

"We believe the small car market (foreign, compact and sports compact) will get about 35 per cent of domestic car sales in 1971," McCurry said.

"The Colt will provide us with plus sales in this active segment and, in combination with the Demon, Dart and Challenger, should allow us to capture about 10 per cent of the small car sales."

"Our growth has been good here," he said. "We had 6.6 per cent of the small car market in 1969, and 8.5 per cent in 1970. We feel a 10 per cent slice is realistic for the coming year."

"We are planning on about 20,000 sales for the Colt in the (Jan.-Sept.) 1971 model year. As availability permits, we will increase this number."

Bauer Homes will have a grand opening for its second unit Pool Series this weekend, according to Pete Blair, vice president for Bauer Development Co. Blair points out that the Bauer Homes Pool Series is believed to be the first development of its size, 115 homes, to have a resident-owned pool club.

The club includes changing and rest rooms, gas barbecues, tether ball, game court, and other recreational facilities.

It also has a covered and heated patio for night-time swimming, cook-outs, luaus, parties, and other social gatherings.

Design highlights of the homes include a dramatic sunken preface with conversation pit, soaring vaulted ceilings, master suites with adult hide-away and fireplace and a living room bay window with built-in seat.

INCLUDED in the purchase price at Bauer Homes are front yard landscaping, sprinklers, complete backyard fencing, carpet and draperies.

Buys LNG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Consolidated Natural Gas Co. has agreed to buy Algerian liquefied natural gas imported by El Paso Natural Gas Co. starting in 1974.

Available in five different models, Bauer Homes offer two to four bedrooms. A choice of FHA, VA, or conventional financing is available. Prices range from $24,950 to $29,950.

Bauer Homes' models are on South Street, two blocks west of Bloomfield Avenue.

They may be reached by taking the San Gabriel Freeway to South Street and driving east. Or, the Santa Ana Freeway may be taken to Orangethorpe Avenue (which becomes South Street) and driving west.

Village West Homes, in Westminster, 'Save Space'

Following a special preview showing last weekend, Village West, a community being built in Westminster by William Krueger, offers a new concept in total-lot home development and financing.

There are nearly 5,000 square feet of interior living space available and these Village West homes take advantage of as much of the space as possible.

In addition, homes at Village West can be purchased with lower-than-average annual interest rates. For the present, buyers at Village West can purchase their new home at a 7 1/2 per cent.

Dick Kurth, of Kurth & Associates, exclusive sales agents for the master-planned community said: "We think these homes have a lot to offer the buying public and so far we have been very pleased with the public response."

While the furniture and other interior decorating on the models has not been done, the sales agent maintains that now is the best time to get the choice lots.

WITH excellent financing available, these fine homes are priced from $28,995 and $29,995 with a selection of three or four bedrooms and two baths.

In addition to being only 10 minutes from South Coast Plaza in Costa Mesa and Huntington Center in Huntington Beach for all shopping needs, there are fine academic institutions within commuting distance.

To reach the sales office and the models, take the San Diego Freeway to Westminster Avenue, turn west to Springdale, south on Springdale to Camphor Avenue, then right on Camphor to the models.

The new models are open every day for inspection from 10 a.m. until dusk.

Some notes about Home Buying:

he who hesitates . . .

From mid-1968 to July, 1969, the price of an average home rose from $34,250 to $36,990—a rise of almost $3,000. Many have taken this as a sign not to buy now.

But, since home costs are predicted to continue rising, that new home won't get any cheaper by waiting.

And a house bought now will increase in proportion to the cost of reproducing that dwelling at some future date.

So, unlike some depressed or non-viable areas of the United States, the home-owner or buyer in Southern California knows that his property investment will be reasonably well-protected because of the growth and viability of this area.

So, waiting for that home you want now is not really the best move economically. Shop around and see... no better place to start than these pages.

Acme Markets' Expansion Revealed for Coast

Further expansion of the diversified West Coast operations of Acme Markets, Inc., Philadelphia, including Alpha Beta Markets and retail subsidiaries, has been announced by John R. Park, Acme president.

Alpha Beta is headquartered at La Habra, Calif.

The semi-annual report being sent to Acme Markets' 16,000 shareholders, announcing record sales and increased earnings for the period ended Sept. 26, 1970, noted that 14 new food stores were opened in California in the 26-week period, and that 10 more Alpha Beta Markets will be opened on the West Coast in the current fiscal year.

Another 16 Acme Markets will have been opened by fiscal year-end in the East.

Park said the new Alpha Beta bakery, now being built, is expected to be in operation by late 1971. This facility is located near Alpha Beta headquarters in La Habra.

To accommodate Alpha Beta's "continuing growth" in Northern California, a new distribution center has been planned for Milpitas, near San Jose. Park disclosed that ground preparation will begin this month at the site.

VALUE FAIR, the West Coast junior department store chain acquired by Acme Markets a little over a year ago, added two stores in Visalia and Santa Maria by obtaining 100 per cent of the stock of the company operating these two units.

Previously, Value Fair had a minority equity position in that company, Park explained.

Further expansion on the West Coast during the six months of fiscal 1971 included the addition of three stores operated by Alpha Beta: one Hy-Lu Drug Store and two Acme's Coffee Shops, bringing the total of the latter to 18 units.

Park also announced management changes in Acme Markets, including the election of John W. Edstrom as an assistant secretary of the company and the appointment of a former Alpha Beta official, Robert L. Mann, as Acme's division manager in Buffalo, N.Y.

The company operates nearly 900 retail stores. Of these approximately 150 are Alpha Beta Markets in Northern and Southern California and over 600 stores are Acme Markets in seven Eastern states and the District of Columbia.

Prices Begin at $32,950

The theories of "Women's Lib" and "A Man's Home Is His Castle" can live successfully under one roof — if the roof is that of Sol Vista-Fountain Valley home, says Al Solomon, builder-developer of the luxury residential project.

One of the keys for the ladies is the worksaver kitchen Solomon has incorporated into the three to seven-bedroom homes located about the sales office at 16300 Magnolia Ave.

Prices start at $32,950. Solomon, whose Alco-Pacific Construction Company has built more than 3,000 Southern California homes, points to the spacious appointments in the utilitarian kitchens to prove his point.

And for the men who must leave their homes each day for work Sol Vista-Fountain Valley has freeway-close location to speed the outward and homeward journey each day.

"THE homes are located on Magnolia just south of the Magnolia offramp of the Garden Grove Freeway," Solomon explains, "and just north of the San Diego Freeway's Magnolia offramp. Easy to reach from either direction."

Other get-together ideas for the whole family include massive entry ways in the one-story or two-story homes, floor to ceiling brick fireplaces, roomy masterbedroom suites and cathedral ceilings.

Financing and move-in charges are also soothing to budget-minded husbands and wives.

El Ray Park's Interest at 6.9

Boise Cascade Residential Communities Group now offers 6.9 per cent annual percentage rate financing for its new homes at El Ray Park, 19322 Alingham in Cerritos.

Three and four-bedroom homes at El Ray Park sell for as low as $24,950.

Boise Cascade's trade program allows new home buyers at El Ray Park full appraised market value for their existing homes, less normal selling costs.

Under the trade program new home buyers at El Ray Park may select from three bonus plans offered by the builder.

One plan offers four major home appliances, a washer and dryer, a refrigerator with ice maker, and a television set.

Plan two consists of custom designed landscaping, which may include a patio, sprinkler system, trees and shrubbery.

The other plan may provide drapes in every room in the house.

New model homes and the sales-information office are open daily from 10 a.m. to dusk.

Todd Shipyards Net Income Reported Lower

Todd Shipyards Corporation net income for the six months ended Sept. 30 was $968,279, equivalent to $.65 per share.

For the corresponding six months in 1969 the company showed a net income of $2,387,004 equivalent to $1.61 per share. Sales for the current six months totaled $79,708,857, compared to $117,141,984 for the previous corresponding period.

Commenting on these results, J. T. Gilbride, president, stated in the letter to stockholders the volume was lower than anticipated principally because of a decrease in ship conversion opportunities and a greatly diminished amount of naval ship repair work.

He added: "It is apparent that this trend will continue for the balance of the current fiscal year."

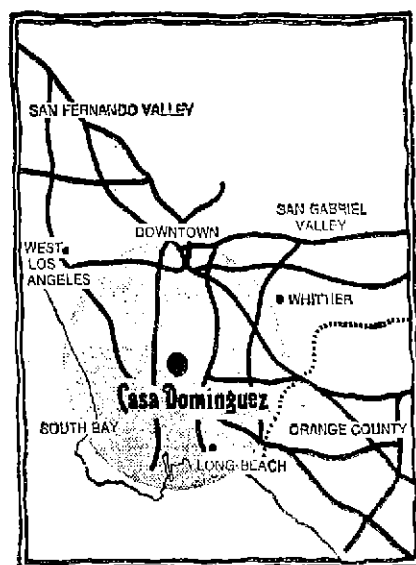

Gilbride hailed President Nixon's signing of the Merchant Marine Act of 1970, calling it a "sound and forward looking program" and expressing confidence that Todd would get its share of shipbuilding generated by the Act.

"This Maritime program, new tanker construction including those for the Alaska oil run, potential liquefied natural gas carriers and other prospective projects augur well for the 1970's," he concluded.

COLONIAL-STYLE HOMES ... At Yorktowne, Huntington Beach

Yorktowne Model Price Reduced by $1,000

A $1,000 reduction in price on the two-bedroom model of the Yorktowne series in Huntington Beach is highlighting the closest sale at the Shields Development Co. community, according to Dick Kurth of Kurth & Associates, sales agents.

Priced from only $25,995, these colonial styled homes can be financed by either VA, FHA or flexible conventional term.

There are 12 exteriors to select from and the price for the two bedroom model is even more impressive when the buyer considers that the model can be expanded.

Other striking innovations of these homes include two-story living rooms with balconies, wood-burning fireplaces and beamed and cathedral ceilings as well as optional pass-through serving bars to the rear patio.

THE KITCHENS come complete with appliances including built-in oven, range and disposal. Combined with the sliding glass doors leading from the family room, this makes these homes ideal for entertaining.

One of the primary concerns when a family moves into a new neighborhood is the type and quality of schools. Located within walking distance of the complex is the John R. Bushard School, a public institution offering quality instruction for grades kindergarten through eight.

To inspect these exciting new homes in the Yorktowne series in Orange, take the Santa Ana, Garden Grove or San Diego Freeway to Brookhurst and drive south to Yorktowne Avenue, then right to the models.

Privacy, Styling at Villa Monterey

Authentic Spanish style homes that were designed for total land use and privacy are being unveiled this weekend in Fountain Valley as the John B. Clark Co. opens its Villa Monterey community.

The new concept incorporates the house, garage and lot as one continuous completely usable unit.

For complete privacy, each villa is surrounded by a seven foot masonry wall and within these confines other walls of sliding glass open from numerous home areas. A full side wall at the property line allows maximum yard area from the 6,500 square foot minimum lots.

Villa Monterey offers three and four bedroom dwellings with two baths and large family rooms. The homes contain from 1,814 to 2,050 square feet of covered living area, in addition to a large two-car garage, atrium and porch areas.

THE VILLAS are priced from $25,750, with conventional as well as VA and FHA financing available.

Veterans, including those World War II and Korean conflict vets that recently had their GI home loan benefits restored, may qualify for the Clark Company's $95 down payment plan.

Clark has included a complete line of amenities. The garden terrace kitchens have all electric ranges, oven, hood, fan and disposer and dishwasher.

They open to patios through sliding glass doors, and include a pass-through patio serving bar. Ceramic tile is used on counter tops.

Baths feature marble top pullmans with full wall vanity mirrors.

DECORATIVE accents include unusually designed Spanish fireplaces with brick hearths, wallpaper and wood paneling in all plans.

The family rooms contain large bookshelves which can be easily converted to a wet bar area.

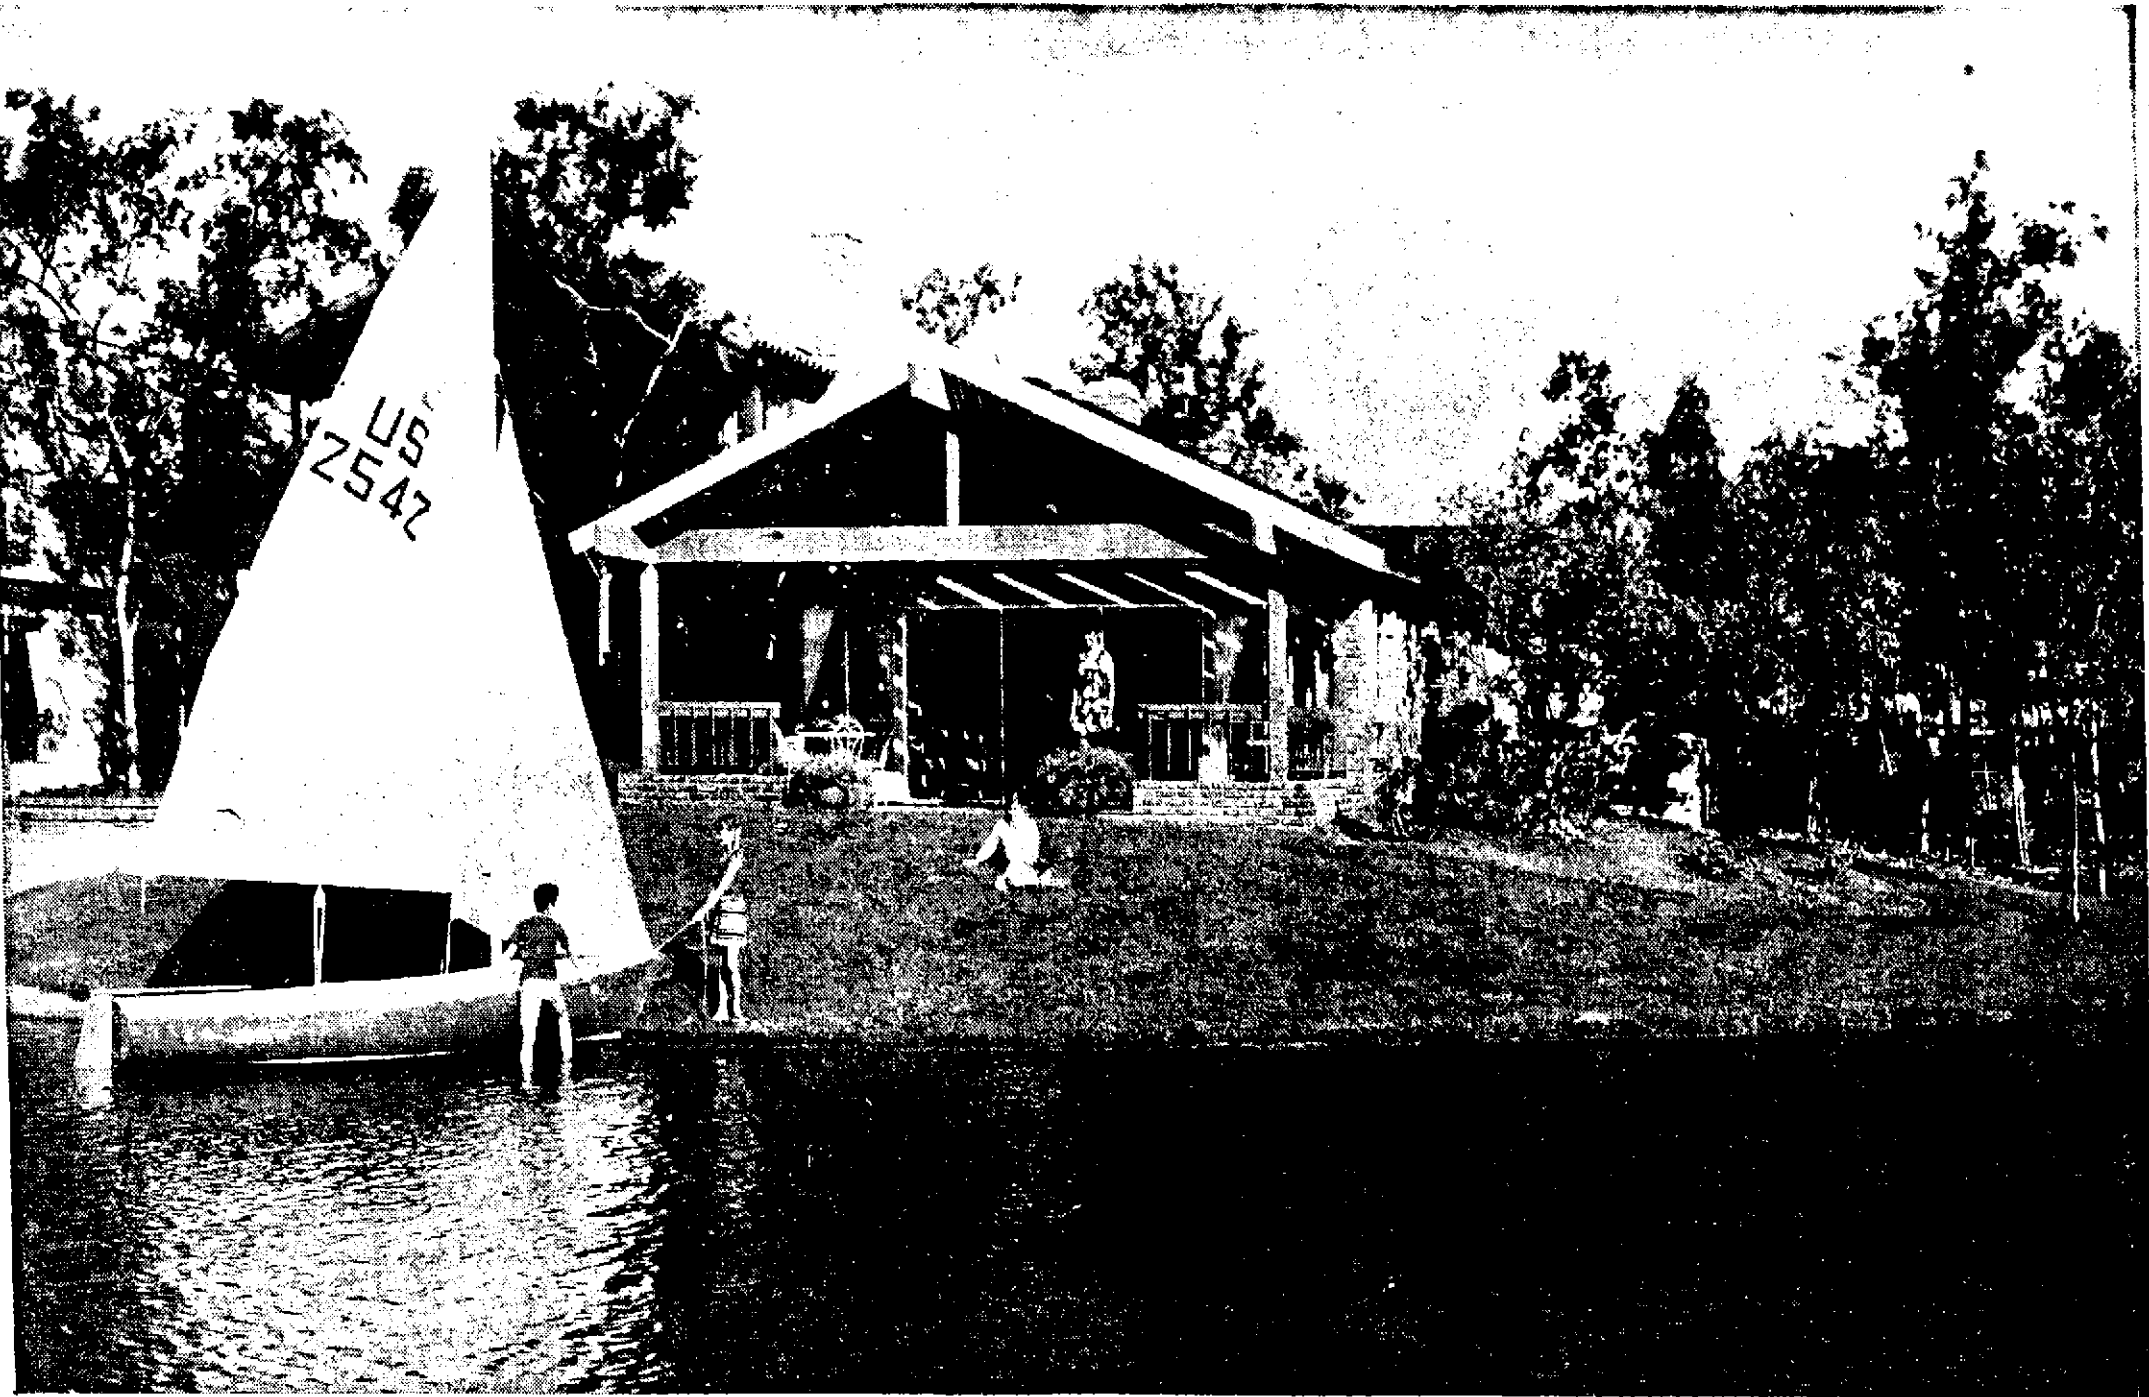

Utilities are underground throughout the entire Villa Monterey development.

Located in an established school district, and near to regional shopping centers, Clark's new development is adjacent to the 18-hole Mile Square Golf course and park, and four miles from public beaches.

Villa Monterey is north of Warner Avenue and two blocks west of Brookhurst in Fountain Valley. The model complex is open daily from 10 a.m. until dusk.
